After One Night Of Freedom

Sheppard's Return To Pen Is Due Sometime Today

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More days of freedom from prison lie ahead for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard after United States marshals declined to pick up Sheppard — who is staying at a plush Columbus motel — without an arrest order.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was expected to be back in prison today after spending his first night of freedom in years in a plush motel here.

The 40-year-old former osteopath had meals served in his room, went swimming and visited with relatives. And he was reunited with a fiancee he did not know before entering Ohio penitentiary nine years ago for the 1954 bludgeon slaying of his wife, Marilyn.

The controversial murder case that attracted worldwide interest became even more bizarre in the last two days.

A federal district judge in Dayton ruled Wednesday that Sheppard had been denied constitutional rights in his trial and ordered him released from prison, setting the stage for a retrial.

Thursday, the balding one-time Cleveland suburbanite walked out of the penitentiary. About the same time, a U.S. appeals court judge in Cincinnati stayed the district court order. That meant Sheppard had to return to prison at least until a hearing could be conducted on the stay order.

Sheppard steadfastly has contended that a bushy-haired intruder beat his pregnant wife to death on July 4, 1954. Although only months away from a possible parole, Sheppard now faces the risk of a retrial that could result in a first-degree murder conviction and a possible death sentence. Originally he was found guilty of second- degree murder in a two-month trial that ended Dec. 21, 1954.

Sheppard said Thursday his fiancee, Ariane Tebbenjohanns, and he had planned to fly to another state to be married immediately. However, he said these plans had been called off.

Economy's Seen Bright By Johnson

President Hails U.S. Expansion As Strong, Balanced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rosy outlook for the nation's economy was projected today from facts and figures reported from the White House, and President Johnson hailed "our strong and balanced economic expansion."

He commented after the Commerce Department reported Thursday a $10 billion rise in the annual rate of the gross national product for the April-June quarter over that for the preceding three months.

That came only a few hours after Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz visited the White House to report to Johnson that total nonfarm employment and weekly factory earnings reached record high levels during June.

The announcements broke a self-imposed silence at the White House during most of the Republican national convention, and still contained no direct reference to Republican charges of "fiscal irresponsibility" against the Democrats.

"All I'm reporting is the facts. You interpret them," Wirtz told newsmen.

The Commerce Department made its own announcement of a record $618.5 billion yearly rate for the gross national product —the sum of all goods and services, government and private.

But Johnson was primed with a statement that "we fully expect the gains in the second half of the year to be even greater than the first."

It was the 14th straight quarter, dating back to early 1961 in which the figure has set a new high, and the figure was $100 billion higher than that during the 1960 recession.

Consumer expenditures accounted for $6 billion of the quarter's increase, a smaller percentage than the $8.7 billion added by consumers to the first quarter's $9.8 billion advance.

The quarterly gain bore out predictions made by administration economists in January. They forecast then a 1964 total of $623 billion. The figure last year was $583.9 billion.

Wirtz said non-farm employment hit a record high of 59.1 million in June.

Acceptance Speech Gets Wild Cheers

Rep. Miller Accepts 'VP' Nomination In Short Address

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Launching his presidential campaign with the declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice," Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater moved today to cement his control of the Republican party.

Goldwater told cheering, stamping, horn-blowing convention delegates as he accepted the GOP nomination in the Cow Palace Thursday night that "it is the cause of Republicanism to ensure that power remains in the hands of the people."

"The Good Lord raised up this mighty republic to be a home of the brave and to flourish as the land of the free — not to stagnate in the swampland of collectivism—not to cringe before the bullying of communism," he declared.

Cheered throughout his speech he got his biggest hand from delegates who had been warned about the threat of extremist elements to their party when he said: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. Moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Clad in a dark business suit and wearing, as usual, his horn-rimmed glasses, Goldwater marched triumphantly into the glare on the podium after his unanimously elected running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, had accepted the vice presidential nomination. Balloons cascaded down on the Arizona senator as pandemonium broke loose.

Miller, noted as a rough-and-tumble campaigner, played down his role with a short speech in which he said he was happy to be standing in the campaign at the side of "a man who more than any other I have ever known in American life speaks the truth to the people, courageously stands for principle, and devotes himself completely to keeping America free."

The formalities having been observed and the 28th Republican Convention over, Goldwater turned his attention to taking over the command of the GOP National Committee.

Accomplishments In Research Bared For First Time

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—For the first time the Soviet Union has given the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space a summary of Soviet accomplishments in space research, an informed source said today.

The source said the 30-page document was "extremely interesting," and an encouraging development for the 28 - nation committee. The committee will meet at U.N. headquarters Oct. 26 to draft a report for the General Assembly opening Nov. 10.

The United Nations will publish the Soviet summary after it is translated and the Russians check the translation for accuracy.

The United States and other nations on the committee previously submitted information on their space research.

The last General Assembly approved by acclamation a program to promote international cooperation in exploration of outer space, including further

Won Praise Of Nation

Ex-Scout, Lost 9 Days In 1939, Serves In Viet

MT. KATAHDIN, Maine (AP) —Twenty-five years ago today a 12-year-old Boy Scout from Rye, N.Y., disappeared near the fog-shrouded summit of Mt. Katahdin.

Nine days later, Donn Fendler stumbled out of the wilderness nearly naked, half starved, scratched, bruised and insect-bitten.

Fendler's stamina and cool-headedness won the nation's praise in 1939.

On that July 17, while hiking with his father, Donald, and twin brother, Ryan, Donn tried a short cut and became lost.

The largest—up to then—search party ever organized in New England spent day after day on the mountain's barren crags. At the end of a week, hope was virtually gone. The boy had no food and was thinly clad.

But on July 25, the exhausted Donn reached the shore of the Penobscot River's east branch 35 miles from the mountain.

His faint cries were heard by Nelson McMoarn, who canoed across from his sporting camp.

To newsmen, Donn related his story:

When he realized he was lost, "I shouted but got no reply. I tried to find north but couldn't. After that it was just a case of going on and looking for any trail or landmark that I might run across.

"I found an old burlap bag hanging to a tree and made myself a sleeping bag. I crawled into it each night and pulled my shirt over my head and in that way was able to have a good sleep."

Complex Triple Launching

Three Satellites Orbited By U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Two sentry satellites and a "pygmy" satellite rocketed into great egg-shaped orbits today in a complex triple launching that could lead to U.S. development of a foolproof system to detect illicit nuclear explosions in space.

The trio of radiation-sensing packages rode into space atop a single powerful Atlas-Agena rocket which blazed brilliantly in the early morning darkness at 3:22 a.m. (EST).

The Air Force reported 20 minutes later that the 10-story-tall booster had drilled the three satellites into separate highly elliptical orbits.

The exact path was not known immediately but early tacking information indicated the payloads were very close to the intended course ranging from 120 to 63,000 miles above the earth.

All three space messengers were flashing clear radio signals to ground stations.

It was the fourth time the United States had orbited three satellites with one rocket. The record is four in one shot set by another Atlas-Agena last year.

The pygmy satellite was injected into its pre-planned path shortly after the three satellites separated from the booster today.

Because of an intricate flight plan intended to station the twin Sentry satellites at the high point of the course, officials will not know until about 10:30 a.m. Sunday whether the launching is completely successful.

Small rockets aboard the pair are to arrest them at widely scattered points 63,000 miles up —one about 18 hours after launching, the other about 37 hours later.

The Sentries, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of satellites that will peer electronically more than 200 million miles into space to discover if the Soviet Union or any other nation cheats on the partial nuclear test ban treaty by exploding a rocket-borne bomb far from earth.

The 4.5-pound pygmy, which rode along as a hitchhiker, was to aid the study by measuring electrons during wide- swinging sweeps through the Van Allen radiation belts.

Officials said knowledge of electron characteristics in the belts that extend 40,000 miles above the earth would be valuable in noting changes if a nuclear explosion occurred outside the atmosphere.

In a similar manner, the two nuclear detection satellites were to draw a radiation chart of space, including what happens when their sensitive instruments are struck by surges of charged particles from a solar flare or cosmic ray shower. With this knowledge, operational satellites would be able quickly to differentiate between natural radiation and that created by a sneak nuclear burst.

Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission said the pair of Sentries could be used as a limited operational tool, just as two earlier satellites in the series have been utilized. The initial watchdog satellites were hurled into orbit last Oct. 16, just six days after the nuclear test ban treaty was signed by more than 100 nations, including the United States and Russia. France did not sign.

The treaty prohibits nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water or in space, but does not forbid underground detonations.

Bliss Likely To Step Out Of GOP Post

Ohio's Chairman Dodges Discussion About Possibility

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There appeared some uncertainty today that Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss would remain on as chairman during the upcoming battle for the presidency.

Bliss, who previously had expressed a profound disinterest in the job, wouldn't discuss that possibility with newsmen here, and that fact left observers wondering what his eventual decision would be.

There was some disappointment among the Ohio delegation that Bliss was passed over for the post of National chairman being vacated by William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

Bliss, until the San Francisco convention had been one of the top prospects for Miller's job.

On the whole, Ohio Republican delegates appeared satisfied with the Goldwater-Miller ticket nominated at the convention.

Many of the Ohio delegates said frankly they didn't know too much about Miller, but were willing to accept him as the vice presidential choice of Goldwater.

Rep. Roger Cloud, speaker of the Ohio House, said he did not make up his mind until about

Parade, 'Battle' Included For Historical Program

LISBON — A parade and a mock battle will highlight a program scheduled July 25-26 by the Columbiana County Historical Association to commemorate the 200th anniversary of Col. Henry Bouquet's expedition against the Indians, in which what is now Columbiana County played a role.

Robert Kelm of Lisbon and William Stewart of New Kensington, Pa., are co-chairmen of the observance. They said A. L. Schmultz of Washington, counsul general of Switzerland, and Alastair Maitland, consul general of the British consulate in Washington, are scheduled to attend, bringing along their nation's flags.

Col. Bouquet, born in Switzerland, led Colonial troops in a successful battle with Chief Pontiac's Indian warriors near Bushy Run, Pa.

A year later — in 1764 — the colonel led a force of 1,500 men across Columbiana County in pursuit of Pontiac's warriors, establishing several camps in this area.

The colonel was seeking to establish a permanent peace and secure release of white prisoners. He met with the Indian leaders in the vicinity of what is now Coshocton, exchanging prisoners and signing a peace treaty.

Participating groups will include Colonial troops under the command of Capt. William Green of Salem; Capt. Byron Dray of East Liverpool; Capt. John Simonds of Leetonia and

Sawmill's Operator Hurt By Machinery

A 57-year-old Salineville area sawmill operator was in "critical" condition today at City Hospital with severe internal injuries suffered when a saw sliced into his abdomen at his mill Thursday.

Lyman Dowdell of the Salineville-Summitville Rd. received lacerations of the abdomen and internal organs when he either fell against the saw or inadvertently pulled it against himself at the mill at his home about a mile and a half north of Salineville.

An employe of the mill found Dowdell slumped over the saw in the structure and summoned aid. He was able to speak to those about him for a while, but then became unconscious.

Rushed to the hospital by ambulance after the mishap about 1 p. m., the victim underwent surgery and was scheduled for additional surgery today.

The exact path was not known immediately but early tacking information indicated the payloads were very close to the intended course ranging from 120 to 63,000 miles above the earth.

All three space messengers were flashing clear radio signals to ground stations.

It was the fourth time the United States had orbited three satellites with one rocket. The record is four in one shot set by another Atlas-Agena last year.

The pygmy satellite was injected into its pre-planned path shortly after the three satellites separated from the booster today.

Because of an intricate flight plan intended to station the twin Sentry satellites at the high point of the course, officials will not know until about 10:30 a.m. Sunday whether the launching is completely successful.

Small rockets aboard the pair are to arrest them at widely scattered points 63,000 miles up —one about 18 hours after launching, the other about 37 hours later.

The Sentries, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of satellites that will peer electronically more than 200 million miles into space to discover if the Soviet Union or any other nation cheats on the partial nuclear test ban treaty by exploding a rocket-borne bomb far from earth.

The 4.5-pound pygmy, which rode along as a hitchhiker, was to aid the study by measuring electrons during wide- swinging sweeps through the Van Allen radiation belts.

Officials said knowledge of electron characteristics in the belts that extend 40,000 miles above the earth would be valuable in noting changes if a nuclear explosion occurred outside the atmosphere.

In a similar manner, the two nuclear detection satellites were to draw a radiation chart of space, including what happens when their sensitive instruments are struck by surges of charged particles from a solar flare or cosmic ray shower. With this knowledge, operational satellites would be able quickly to differentiate between natural radiation and that created by a sneak nuclear burst.

Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission said the pair of Sentries could be used as a limited operational tool, just as two earlier satellites in the series have been utilized. The initial watchdog satellites were hurled into orbit last Oct. 16, just six days after the nuclear test ban treaty was signed by more than 100 nations, including the United States and Russia. France did not sign.

The treaty prohibits nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water or in space, but does not forbid underground detonations.

Bliss Likely To Step Out Of GOP Post

Ohio's Chairman Dodges Discussion About Possibility

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There appeared some uncertainty today that Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss would remain on as chairman during the upcoming battle for the presidency.

Bliss, who previously had expressed a profound disinterest in the job, wouldn't discuss that possibility with newsmen here, and that fact left observers wondering what his eventual decision would be.

There was some disappointment among the Ohio delegation that Bliss was passed over for the post of National chairman being vacated by William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

Bliss, until the San Francisco convention had been one of the top prospects for Miller's job.

On the whole, Ohio Republican delegates appeared satisfied with the Goldwater-Miller ticket nominated at the convention.

Many of the Ohio delegates said frankly they didn't know too much about Miller, but were willing to accept him as the vice presidential choice of Goldwater.

Rep. Roger Cloud, speaker of the Ohio House, said he did not make up his mind until about

Parade, 'Battle' Included For Historical Program

LISBON — A parade and a mock battle will highlight a program scheduled July 25-26 by the Columbiana County Historical Association to commemorate the 200th anniversary of Col. Henry Bouquet's expedition against the Indians, in which what is now Columbiana County played a role.

Robert Kelm of Lisbon and William Stewart of New Kensington, Pa., are co-chairmen of the observance. They said A. L. Schmultz of Washington, counsul general of Switzerland, and Alastair Maitland, consul general of the British consulate in Washington, are scheduled to attend, bringing along their nation's flags.

Col. Bouquet, born in Switzerland, led Colonial troops in a successful battle with Chief Pontiac's Indian warriors near Bushy Run, Pa.

A year later — in 1764 — the colonel led a force of 1,500 men across Columbiana County in pursuit of Pontiac's warriors, establishing several camps in this area.

The colonel was seeking to establish a permanent peace and secure release of white prisoners. He met with the Indian leaders in the vicinity of what is now Coshocton, exchanging prisoners and signing a peace treaty.

Participating groups will include Colonial troops under the command of Capt. William Green of Salem; Capt. Byron Dray of East Liverpool; Capt. John Simonds of Leetonia and

Man Injured At Salineville

Sawmill's Operator Hurt By Machinery

A 57-year-old Salineville area sawmill operator was in "critical" condition today at City Hospital with severe internal injuries suffered when a saw sliced into his abdomen at his mill Thursday.

Lyman Dowdell of the Salineville-Summitville Rd. received lacerations of the abdomen and internal organs when he either fell against the saw or inadvertently pulled it against himself at the mill at his home about a mile and a half north of Salineville.

An employe of the mill found Dowdell slumped over the saw in the structure and summoned aid. He was able to speak to those about him for a while, but then became unconscious.

Rushed to the hospital by ambulance after the mishap about 1 p. m., the victim underwent surgery and was scheduled for additional surgery today.

Head Home From Convention

Most W. Va. Delegates To Work For Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Virginians headed home from the Republican National Convention today with the great majority prepared to work for election of Barry Goldwater as President.

The Mountain State delegates joined in a lively convention reception Thursday night for the nominee who received 12 of their 14 votes.

And state Chairman C.S. (Jack) Weaver, who is not a delegate, came away from a meeting with the candidate "greatly impressed" by his determination to build a stronger party organization.

"He promised close coordination with state chairmen and national committeemen and women and I believe in this kind of organization," Weaver said.

Goldwater sent hand - written notes to the state chairmen inviting them to meet with him at his convention hotel.

Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. of Glen Dale, who expressed his belief that the Republican ticket will be strong in West Virginia, this fall, received a convention honor last night.

He was asked to help escort Rep. William Miller, the party's vice presidential candidate, to the pltaform to make his acceptance speech. It was an unexpected thrill for Moore, who is a close personal friend of Miller in Congress.

Moore earlier had figured prominently in defending the party platform against floor attempts by Scranton forces to change it.

Cleo S. Jones, a Charleston lawyer who voted for Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, disclosed Thursday that Goldwater almost got 13 votes from West Virginia.

He said he was planning to change his vote in a spirit of party unity but couldn't get word to delegation chairman Chapman Revercomb before the final tabulation.

M. G. Mal Guthrie, operator of a soft-drink bottling firm in Charleston, cast the other non-Goldwater vote. Guthrie was state chairman for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's drive for the nomination. He made a seconding speech for Rockefeller at the convention and stayed with him through the roll call.

Chester Girl Scouts To End Camp

A closing program for the week - long Girl Scout Day Camp at Chester was scheduled this afternoon at the City Park.

Mrs. Donald Vogel, director of the camp which some 85 girls attended, is shown with Edith Werkheiser, center, a junior Girl Scout who earned a backyard fun badge at the camp, and Martha Briggs, Senior Girl Scout who earned a program side bar.

The girls camped out overnight Thursday at the site.

Parents were invited to today's event, which was to include awarding of badges and presentation of songs and skits.

The camp was sponsored by the Chester - Newell Girl Scout organization.

Get U.S. Food To 2 Million

Religious Workers Join To Aid Needy Brazilians

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)— Roman Catholics and Protestants have joined hands in a voluntary program that is getting American food to more than two million needy Brazilians.

The program, which gets its supplies from U.S. Food for Peace, is the biggest of its kind in the world.

It began three years ago with a handful of workers. Today, nearly 100,000 men and women, half of them on a part-time basis, contribute their time to this task. Many are retired businessmen and housewives.

The U.S. government supplies the food and transports it to Brazilian docks. But once there, the job becomes the responsibility of Brazilian men and women and organizations, headed by the Brazil Voluntary Agency. This allies the Catholic Relief Service, the Protestant Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief, all cooperating with Brazilian agencies.

Costs of the program in Brazil are almost totally paid by the Brazilian church organizations. The Brazilian government helps by giving duty-free entry to the food from America, providing some warehouses and some transportation.

But the firm backbone of the operation is the mass of men and women who volunteer their time.

Through them, food is distributed in cities such as Rio De Janeiro and Sao Paulo, and, more difficult, in many small towns and communities in the vast Brazilian interior.

The network now includes 12,000 Catholic distribution centers that reach two million persons and 3,200 protestant centers that reach half a million.

The program will get under way at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 25, when the "Buckskin" group and the Colonial troops will leave an encampment at the Fair Grounds and move to an area east of Lisbon. The "Indian" group will meet at the Fair Grounds and then leave for an area southeast of Lisbon. Both forces will march through the Square to the Fair Grounds to set up camps.

At 6:30 p.m., the groups will meet at McKinley School and parade through the Square, disbanding in the vicinity of the American Legion home.

All participants and their families have been invited to an old-fashioned "hoe-down" at 9 p.m. at the VFW Hall. Women have been asked to dress in period costumes.

The groups will meet Sunday at 1 p.m. for a briefing before the mock battle. The battle is scheduled to be enacted at 8 p.m. for the public in front of the grandstand at the Fair Grounds.

"The nights were so dark and cold. I could hear the queerest noises. I thought a lot about bears. And then one day I saw two. I was scared and I guess they were as scared as I, because when I ran away they ran the other way."

Finally, Donn came to a brook. From his scout training he knew that if he followed it, he'd eventually come to a river. As he hiked along he found a telephone line. The line led him to the east branch.

After a few days' rest in a Bangor Hospital, Donn had a hero's welcome.

Later he was a guest of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y., and the two exchanged autographs.

Donn became a Seabee in World War II. After graduation from the University of Georgia, he elected to make the Army his career.

Today Maj. Donn C. Fendler is in another rough spot. He is a special forces advisor in South Viet Nam, on his second tour of duty in that war-torn nation.

Goldwater Or The Egg?

There is an intriguing speculation that goes like this:

If Sen. Goldwater had not made up his mind after events in the Republican National Convention in 1960 to give the Eastern faction one more crack, then oust it if Richard Nixon lost, who might be standing in his place today?

It is not likely that someone else would have emerged from relative obscurity to act as spokesman and banner bearer for the people who have taken Sen. Goldwater to their political hearts? And let there be no mistake about their zeal. Seasoned political observers all have noted there is nothing perfunctory about the support they are giving Sen. Goldwater. They are on a crusade.

It is a noteworthy thing about this man that he has found it difficult to take himself seriously in the role of crusader; that his followers have been so grimly purposeful that they have embarrassed him with their intensity.

WHO ARE these intense people who put so much oomph into the preconvention campaign they made Rockefeller, Lodge and Scranton look like bunglers, scared the old pro Nixon into staying out of their way and made former President Eisenhower seem like a stumbling elder statesman being outfooted by younger, nimbler opponents?

We have been learning about the group around Sen. Goldwater himself, his "cowboy mafia." We know they are hard-working, dedicated and skillful, as they had to be to sew up a presidential nomination as handily as they sewed up this one.

But who are the masses of people in the communities who stir the zeal that is the trademark of the Goldwater campaign? To understand what has put a senator from politically insignificant Arizona at the head of a political crusade, it is necessary to understand his following.

HIS FOLLOWERS are the politically thwarted opponents of the school of political thought that dominated Washington since the first New Deal. Even the two Eisenhower administrations were dominated by this school.

The ironic fact is that this school existed as early as the Hoover administration, which was regarded by Old Guard Republicans as semi-socialist, though it was turned into a synonym for reaction by Democratic propaganda.

Every time the Republican party had reorganized itself for another national campaign, the Old Guard was shoved to the sidelines. Every four years when the votes were counted, there were politically agonizing reappraisals — and let no one think these reappraisals weren't made even after Dwight Eisenhower's landslide victories, which were not victories for Republican doctrine but for a military hero who said he was striving to rise above partisanship.

The zeal behind the Goldwater candidacy is generated by partisanship—not just the partisanship of Republicans but the partisanship of all the nation's long-thwarted conservatives.

THESE PEOPLE yearn for a return to hard lines in place of soft lines — implacable opposition to everything that smacks of welfare statism, international appeasement, stronger central government, closer regulation in the name of public welfare, Keynesian debt philosophy, modus vivendi for getting along with the Soviet Union.

They are found in both parties and among independents. They have resented loss of their identity in political party action and yearned for the day when they could be with their own kind in a party of kindred souls.

Even more than this, they have yearned for the day when all the people they disagreed with could be in an opposition party they could oppose.

Did these people find Barry Goldwater, or did Barry Goldwater find them?

Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

It's A Start!

The intense competition for industry by communities throughout the nation was underscored again this week with the announcement at Lisbon that prospect for a new firm, employing more than 200, had failed to materialize.

A leather tanning concern had shown interest in locating at the Columbiana County seat, despite the need for sizable water treatment facilities which the village currently lacks. But a letter from the company president advised the new Chamber of Commerce that two other sites in Ohio now have preference over Lisbon.

The success of Lisbon in obtaining the interest of prospective industries is a mark of achievement, however, and continued action by the Chamber in going after new firms and cooperation by village officials and residents in making the town more attractive to industry should eventually show results.

Mocking The Judicial System

When Dr. Richard N. Sheppard, one of two older brothers of Samuel H. Sheppard, said he was "a little astounded" to hear of a federal judge's order that Sam be released from prison, his astonishment was as nothing compared with that of a wide cross-section of the legal profession.

U. S. District Court Judge Carl A. Weinman's decision that Sam Sheppard's 1954 wife-murder trial was unfair and that his imprisonment was "void" led immediately to this reaction:

Are judges required to obey the law?

Sam Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder by a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas jury. His conviction was reviewed and upheld by the Eighth District Court of Appeals, by the Ohio Supreme Court twice and by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Now comes Judge Weinman of the lowest federal court to set himself above the highest court in the land, whose decisions are held to be the law, beyond which there is no appeal.

If Sam Sheppard's conviction was "a mockery of justice," as Judge Weinman ruled, our astonishment is that the U.S. Supreme Court didn't see it that way.

This sensational development 10 years after one of the most sensational criminal cases in Ohio history would seem to make a mockery of our entire judicial system.

Mercy On Us

By Truman Twill

If one thing about politics bugs me more than almost everything else about this black art, it's the effort to divide us common people into two camps.

The names of the camps change from one election to another. High Tariff. Low Tariff. Gold Standard. Free Silver. Wet. Dry. This year the names are Conservative and Liberal.

They might as well be Sheeps and Goats. Our dilemma would be the same.

Most of us do not identify ourselves as Sheep or Goats. We are American citizens trying to make do with what we can lay our hands on.

Sometimes we act sheepish, sometimes goatish.

Sometimes we feel liberal, sometimes conservative.

The idea of having to feel one way or the other 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, is horrifying. We'd as soon take a pledge to feel forever sheepish or goatish.

THIS CAUSES many of us to point out when pressed about our place in the political spectrum that we prefer to be "moderates," meaning we reserve the right to choose among the views of all the people who keep trying to divide the American people into camps of extremists.

We take extremism with the proverbial grain of salt, because we have learned something about extremists.

They talk extremist but act moderately if given responsibility. Some deceive us deliberately, but many do it because they have a great capacity for misleading themselves. They believe their own guff.

Like gullible people who swallow an extremist line without nuzzling the bait to see if it's real or artificial, these people go for anything dangled before their wondering eyes, the wigglier the better.

They are the salvation and the bane of politics in our self-governing society. They are its salvation because they are throbbingly concerned about public matters and take pro and con position. They are its bane because they are so prone to swallow the hook that anyone can make suckers of them.

THIS YEAR they will be found on both sides of the dividing line, as always. Some will gulp down everything self-proclaimed conservatives dangle in front of them; others will swallow everything self-proclaimed liberals put on the hook.

Might there be a really realistic and reliable division of the American people for the purpose of holding an election someday? Probably not.

It would need to be a division between gullibles and cynics—and that would be the end of a people's democracy.

The gullibles would believe anything and the cynics would believe nothing. They'd ruin us.

Bail System Improvement Urged

Victor Riesel is on a news gathering trip through Africa and Eastern Europe. In his absence, prominent Americans are pinch-hitting for him.

By ROBERT F. KENNEDY
United States Attorney General

Daniel Walker of Glen Cove, N.Y., was arrested recently on suspicion of robbing a local delicatessen. He could not raise the $10,000 bail or the bondsman's fee to secure release from jail.

For 55 days Walker remained in jail. He lost his job, his credit rating, and his car. His wife had to move in with her parents. Then Walker was discovered to be the victim of mistaken identity. He went free. But it took him four months to find another job.

In Birmingham, a 26-year-old man was arrested and held without bond in the stabbing of an FBI agent. He was in jail for five months before a 16-year-old admitted that he was guilty of the attack.

In Los Angeles, accused persons denied bond spend an average of 78 days in jail before coming to trial — whether guilty or innocent.

How is this time returned to Walker or the 26-year-old Birmingham man or innumerable others like them, in Los Angeles and around the country?

THE ANSWER, of course, is that time, money and the loss of dignity never can be returned. It's one of the tragedies of a bail system which inflicts repeated injustices on the poor, needlessly.

These are abuses which can be corrected. Why not release the less serious crimes, on their personal recognizance or "word of honor."

In its Manhattan Bail Project experimenting with such release, the Vera Foundation of New York City last year recommended release on recognizance for 2,400 defendants. Only 19, representing seven-tenths of 1 per cent violated their trust. This was a better record than by those released after posting bail.

The theory of bail in our system, of course, is intended to insure the appearance of the defendant when his case is called for trial. But it has worked out instead to be a test of financial ability.

THE DEFENDANT with the money and the professional bondsman gets out of jail. The defendant without funds remains in jail for that reason alone.

In protecting justice for all men — rich and poor — we must make sure the indigent defendant is provided with full legal protection. He is not protected when the law detains him for lack of a few dollars to meet a bondsman's fee.

Control of bail, as a matter of record, has frequently been passed by default to the professional bondsmen. We must share the concern of Judge J. Skelly Wright of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, who wrote recently: "Professional bondsmen hold the keys to the jail in their pockets. . . . The court and commissioners are relegated to the relatively unimportant chore of fixing the amount of bail."

While providing what amounts to another penalty for the defendant, bail also can be a drain on the taxpayer. In 1963, federal prisoners spent 600,000 man days awaiting trial. This cost was $2 million.

NEW YORK CITY alone spends $10 million in local tax funds to detain prisoners awaiting trial. In addition, local welfare and relief funds often must be paid to their wageless families.

Such many-sided problems of bail prompted us to call the recent 3-day National Bail Conference in Washington last month, sponsored by the Department of Justice and the Vera Foundation.

Some 500 lawyers, prosecutors, police, sheriffs and judges gathered to discuss the unfair balance of the scales against the poor man and his ability to be released before trial.

Solutions like that found by the Vera Foundation in New York were discussed, with attention paid to their applicability in different communities. Other answers were proposed, for adaptation according to different needs in different cities.

Soon regional conferences will be called on bail throughout the country to further impress the importance of solutions to these abuses on our responsible officials and citizens. Detailed reports of the conference in Washington are being prepared for many law enforcement officers who could not attend.

WE ARE OPTIMISTIC, too, about action that has been taken since the conference.

The Citizens Crime Commission of Delaware already has called a meeting on possible improvements in the bail system there. Lawyers in Minnesota have called a meeting. A meeting has been scheduled in Toledo. The state's attorneys office in Chicago is anxious to work on the problem.

All of us concerned with this problem are hopeful that this represents only a beginning in the struggle for equal justice for the poor as well as the rich.

The country, the state and the local community, and most of all — the defendant — deserve the equal protection of law each man is due from our society.

Conservative Tide

By David Lawrence

GOP Change Seen Reflection Of Public Trend

SAN FRANCISCO — Amateurism lost to professionalism. Inexperience was beaten by experience. Maturity triumphed over immaturity.

David Lawrence

But even these three ways of explaining the victory by Sen. Goldwater over his opponents do not tell the whole story. For, as Shakespeare once wrote: "There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

INDEED, there is a tide running among the American people today which has escaped the eye of many of the pollsters. It also has been underestimated by many wishful thinkers in the ranks of so-called "liberalism" in America.

The tide cannot just be called "conservatism." It is in the main a protest against the mistakes of those who do not yet see the distinction between true liberalism and radical liberalism or between a government based on a written Constitution and policy making based on opportunistic interpretations of the Constitution which arbitrarily take away individual rights.

PROTESTS against such usurpations of power have hitherto been cavalierly brushed aside as "reactionary" or "extremist."

But the people are not swayed by slogans or epithets. They are concerned about what affects their lives directly, and they don't like fiscal extravagance in the guise of humanitarianism or centralization of power in the name of "progress."

The general trends have been grossly misjudged, and the amateurs who steered the campaign of Gov. Scranton failed to see that New Dealism — by whatever name is is called today — has really worn out its welcome.

Even a "great society" can't be great if the purchasing power of the dollar is frittered away.

THE THREE governors who backed the various planks that were rejected for inclusion in the party platform didn't know legislative mechanics or the way the minds of the experienced politicians really work in judging the electorate.

Gov. Scranton, Gov. Rockefeller and Gov. Romney didn't have a chance against skillful practitioners like Rep. Laird of Wisconsin, Rep. Ford of Michigan and Rep. McCulloch of Ohio, who know that to amend a platform to improve it is one thing but to try to amend it so as to carry on a vendetta against a particular candidate is something else again.

EACH OF the proposed changes really was designed to hurt Goldwater by negating some things which he may have said or implied in past speeches made off the cuff but which were not borne out by the platform submitted to the convention by the 100-member committee here.

The alternate planks offered were superfluous expressions, as the same points already had been made in the diplomatic or implicit language in which platform planks usually are written.

This is not to disparage the sincerity of those who wanted to see amendments adopted but to question their strategy and judgment at a national convention.

FOR NOBODY recognizes more quickly a maneuver hostile to the candidacy of the man he is backing than the manager of a prospective nominee in the lead.

Governors of states aren't as experienced in the nuances of national policies and the public reaction to them as are members of Congress who live with such controversies from day to day.

The Republican platform adopted here covers the same objectives as those which the Scranton, Rockefeller and Romney blocs of delegates really wanted.

It was a mistake to launch a platform fight on such issues, despite the impression which some of the advocates gave that there were really fundamental differences.

SEN. GOLDWATER came out ahead because he has campaigned for 10 years across the nation for candidates of the Republican party and he continuously has expressed a viewpoint that has become popular today.

Nobody else was as effective in the many months of preconvention campaigning, and he alone has been able to criticize the incumbent Democratic administration without being compelled to adopt a sort of "metooism" which confuses the voter.

The theory that the two parties are after the same result and differ only in how to attain it has lost many congressional seats for the Republican party because the arguments have been neither definitive nor persuasive.

THE ARIZONA SENATOR is courageous and outspoken. More delegates at the conclusion of this convention will go home with the idea that Mr. Goldwater can win the election in November than held any such belief before coming to San Francisco.

For they see the arguments on current issues in terms of the public's reaction, and they sense a protest vote in the making which could win the election.

Doctor Gap Widens

By Joseph Michalak

The United States Public Health Service has estimated that it will take about 11,000 medical graduates a year by 1970 to keep the country in healthy condition. That's almost 3,500 a year more than are now being turned out by the nation's 87 medical colleges, and the total produced increases at an annual rate of only about 100.

To close that doctor gap was one of the aims of the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act, passed by the Congress last September. The trouble is that the Congress — 10 months later — still has not appropriated any part of the $236 million authorized.

Meanwhile, bids for a piece of the melon have been piling up in the offices of the Public Health Service's division of hospital and medical facilities, which is to administer the program. The bids total many times over what the government intends to disburse.

The biggest part of the three-year program — $175 million — involves money for construction. Three of every $5 of this total will be spent on new or improved medical, nursing or pharmacy schools.

THE REST is to be divided equally between new dental facilities in all medical fields.

For construction, the government will put up to two-thirds of the cost, and the schools would have to raise the rest from other sources.

In addition, $61 million will go into low-interest loans — limited to $2,000 a year per student — through 1969.

As of this week, the PHS had received more than 250 "letters of intent" from schools explaining that federal funds were needed to start a new medical facility or to improve an established one. Of these, 95 were for medical-school projects from the 87 existing schools and a dozen or so new ones in various states of planning.

If all the letters were acted on, PHS officials said, the government would have to lay out more than a billion dollars. To get a more realistic picture of the job, the agency asked those filing the letters of intent to post formal applications by May 15 for the first stage of grants hopefully totaling $100 million.

This total was more than doubly over-subscribed. About $140 million of the requests came from 27 medical-school applications alone. These are now undergoing on-site inspections by PHS officials.

THE NEED in the medical-school area is especially acute, and blueprints for new schools are being drafted at an unprecedented rate. While only 10 new schools were created in the last 25 years, physicians and other interested groups are working on plans for at least 15 new ones that should be ready before another decade passes.

Some 500 lawyers, prosecutors, police, sheriffs and judges gathered to discuss the unfair balance of the scales against the poor man and his ability to be released before trial.

Solutions like that found by the Vera Foundation in New York were discussed, with attention paid to their applicability in different communities. Other answers were proposed, for adaptation according to different needs in different cities.

Soon regional conferences will be called on bail throughout the country to further impress the importance of solutions to these abuses on our responsible officials and citizens. Detailed reports of the conference in Washington are being prepared for many law enforcement officers who could not attend.

WE ARE OPTIMISTIC, too, about action that has been taken since the conference.

The Citizens Crime Commission of Delaware already has called a meeting on possible improvements in the bail system there. Lawyers in Minnesota have called a meeting. A meeting has been scheduled in Toledo. The state's attorneys office in Chicago is anxious to work on the problem.

All of us concerned with this problem are hopeful that this represents only a beginning in the struggle for equal justice for the poor as well as the rich.

The country, the state and the local community, and most of all — the defendant — deserve the equal protection of law each man is due from our society.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Mrs. Emily Devon, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Devon of Thompson Ave. and Arnold Devon of Ohio Ave. left for a motor trip to Toronto and Hamilton, Canada.

Dr. H. T. McKnight, Jack Gealy, Eli Jones and R. A. Strayer, all of Midland, returned from a fishing trip to Canada.

The congregation of the Fredericktown Christian Church marked the 107th anniversary of the church, with Municipal Judge Frank Grosshans of East Liverpool reading a brief history of the church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Miss Miriam Chamberlin of Calcutta enrolled for the summer course at Youngstown college and planned to resume her studies as a student nurse at City Hospital in the fall.

Mrs. Charles Lewis was elected president of the Mary Leighton Class of the Central Methodist Church of Wellsville.

A $5,000 fire, touched off by lightning, destroyed a barn, filled with hay and lumber, on the T. R. Glenn farm near Hookstown.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Marilyn Lee Lowery of Drury Ln. left for basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

First Lt. Dale H. Morgan of Aten Ave., Wellsville, was graduated from paratrooper school at Ft. Benning Ga.

Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett of W. 5th St. left for a six-week vacation in Florida, Nassau, Haiti, Jamaica and Cuba.

Odd Facts

The worst fire tragedy in the U. S. during 1963 was the fire and explosion causing the crash of an airliner near Elkton, Md., Dec. 8, taking 82 lives.

Conservative Tide

By David Lawrence

GOP Change Seen Reflection Of Public Trend

SAN FRANCISCO — Amateurism lost to professionalism. Inexperience was beaten by experience. Maturity triumphed over immaturity.

David Lawrence

But even these three ways of explaining the victory by Sen. Goldwater over his opponents do not tell the whole story. For, as Shakespeare once wrote: "There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

INDEED, there is a tide running among the American people today which has escaped the eye of many of the pollsters. It also has been underestimated by many wishful thinkers in the ranks of so-called "liberalism" in America.

The tide cannot just be called "conservatism." It is in the main a protest against the mistakes of those who do not yet see the distinction between true liberalism and radical liberalism or between a government based on a written Constitution and policy making based on opportunistic interpretations of the Constitution which arbitrarily take away individual rights.

PROTESTS against such usurpations of power have hitherto been cavalierly brushed aside as "reactionary" or "extremist."

But the people are not swayed by slogans or epithets. They are concerned about what affects their lives directly, and they don't like fiscal extravagance in the guise of humanitarianism or centralization of power in the name of "progress."

The general trends have been grossly misjudged, and the amateurs who steered the campaign of Gov. Scranton failed to see that New Dealism — by whatever name is is called today — has really worn out its welcome.

Even a "great society" can't be great if the purchasing power of the dollar is frittered away.

THE THREE governors who backed the various planks that were rejected for inclusion in the party platform didn't know legislative mechanics or the way the minds of the experienced politicians really work in judging the electorate.

Gov. Scranton, Gov. Rockefeller and Gov. Romney didn't have a chance against skillful practitioners like Rep. Laird of Wisconsin, Rep. Ford of Michigan and Rep. McCulloch of Ohio, who know that to amend a platform to improve it is one thing but to try to amend it so as to carry on a vendetta against a particular candidate is something else again.

EACH OF the proposed changes really was designed to hurt Goldwater by negating some things which he may have said or implied in past speeches made off the cuff but which were not borne out by the platform submitted to the convention by the 100-member committee here.

The alternate planks offered were superfluous expressions, as the same points already had been made in the diplomatic or implicit language in which platform planks usually are written.

This is not to disparage the sincerity of those who wanted to see amendments adopted but to question their strategy and judgment at a national convention.

FOR NOBODY recognizes more quickly a maneuver hostile to the candidacy of the man he is backing than the manager of a prospective nominee in the lead.

Governors of states aren't as experienced in the nuances of national policies and the public reaction to them as are members of Congress who live with such controversies from day to day.

The Republican platform adopted here covers the same objectives as those which the Scranton, Rockefeller and Romney blocs of delegates really wanted.

It was a mistake to launch a platform fight on such issues, despite the impression which some of the advocates gave that there were really fundamental differences.

SEN. GOLDWATER came out ahead because he has campaigned for 10 years across the nation for candidates of the Republican party and he continuously has expressed a viewpoint that has become popular today.

Nobody else was as effective in the many months of preconvention campaigning, and he alone has been able to criticize the incumbent Democratic administration without being compelled to adopt a sort of "me-tooism" which confuses the voter.

The theory that the two parties are after the same result and differ only in how to attain it has lost many congressional seats for the Republican party because the arguments have been neither definitive nor persuasive.

THE ARIZONA SENATOR is courageous and outspoken. More delegates at the conclusion of this convention will go home with the idea that Mr. Goldwater can win the election in November than held any such belief before coming to San Francisco.

For they see the arguments on current issues in terms of the public's reaction, and they sense a protest vote in the making which could win the election.

Doctor Gap Widens

By Joseph Michalak

The United States Public Health Service has estimated that it will take about 11,000 medical graduates a year by 1970 to keep the country in healthy condition. That's almost 3,500 a year more than are now being turned out by the nation's 87 medical colleges, and the total produced increases at an annual rate of only about 100.

To close that doctor gap was one of the aims of the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act, passed by the Congress last September. The trouble is that the Congress — 10 months later — still has not appropriated any part of the $236 million authorized.

Meanwhile, bids for a piece of the melon have been piling up in the offices of the Public Health Service's division of hospital and medical facilities, which is to administer the program. The bids total many times over what the government intends to disburse.

The biggest part of the three-year program — $175 million — involves money for construction. Three of every $5 of this total will be spent on new or improved medical, nursing or pharmacy schools.

THE REST is to be divided equally between new dental facilities in all medical fields.

For construction, the government will put up to two-thirds of the cost, and the schools would have to raise the rest from other sources.

In addition, $61 million will go into low-interest loans — limited to $2,000 a year per student — through 1969.

As of this week, the PHS had received more than 250 "letters of intent" from schools explaining that federal funds were needed to start a new medical facility or to improve an established one. Of these, 95 were for medical-school projects from the 87 existing schools and a dozen or so new ones in various states of planning.

If all the letters were acted on, PHS officials said, the government would have to lay out more than a billion dollars. To get a more realistic picture of the job, the agency asked those filing the letters of intent to post formal applications by May 15 for the first stage of grants hopefully totaling $100 million.

This total was more than doubly over-subscribed. About $140 million of the requests came from 27 medical-school applications alone. These are now undergoing on-site inspections by PHS officials.

THE NEED in the medical-school area is especially acute, and blueprints for new schools are being drafted at an unprecedented rate. While only 10 new schools were created in the last 25 years, physicians and other interested groups are working on plans for at least 15 new ones that should be ready before another decade passes.

Goldwater

acted in advance to pick Dean Burch, second man in his campaign command, to replace Miller as head of the committee. He has said he wants to bring the committee actively into the campaign and to channel any future patronage through it.

The triumph of Goldwater's conservatism left some wounds unhealed among some of those who had opposed his nomination. Michigan Gov. George W. Romney said that unless the nominee demonstrates that he is willing to go beyond the platform in some vital areas, such as civil rights, "I will go home and campaign for Michigan Republicans."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, who was one of the most active opponents of the Arizonan before his nomination, left the Cow Palace immediately after Goldwater's speech. He was followed by about half the New York delegation, setting off a stir of speculation that they were staging a protest walkout.

However, New York National Committeeman George Hinman said there was no such intention, and other New York Republicans said all that was involved was an effort to beat the traffic out of the Cow Palace area.

About as near as Goldwater came to the civil rights issue in his acceptance speech was his declaration: "We do not seek to live anyone's life for him—we seek only to secure his rights, guarantee him opportunity to strive, with government performing only those needed and constitutionally sanctioned tasks which cannot otherwise be performed."

Miller, who voted in the House for the civil rights bill which Goldwater opposed in the Senate, was expected to take some of the heat of this issue off the head of the ticket.

But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro leader, described Goldwater's nomination as "disastrous." He urged voters to deny support to any Republican candidate who "does not publicly disassociate himself from Sen. Goldwater and his philosophy."

In Washington George Reedy, White House press secretary, commented on Goldwater's previous description of Johnson as "the biggest faker in the United States" and "the phoniest individual who ever came along."

"I think that the American people have spent a good many years building up the status of the presidency, and I don't think we would want to contribute to the tearing down of the status of the presidency," Reedy said.

There was no White House comment on Goldwater's acceptance speech.

Goldwater avoided any personal attacks on the President in his speech winding up the convention. But he attacked the Johnson administration policies vigorously.

Declaring that Americans must renew freedom's vision, he declared:

"During four futile years, the administration we shall replace has distorted and lost that vision.

"It has talked and talked and talked the words of freedom. But it has failed and failed and failed in the works of freedom.

"We have lost the brisk pace of diversity and the genius of individual creativity. We are plodding at a pace set by centralized planning, red tape, rules without responsibility and regimentation without recourse."

In the international field, Goldwater said that "during the Democratic years . . . we have weakly stumbled into conflict, timidly refusing to draw our own lines against aggression, deceitfully refusing to tell even our own people of our own full participation, and tragically letting our finest men die on battlefield unmarked by purpose, pride or the prospect of victory."

"We are at war in Viet Nam," he said, "yet the President who is commander in chief of our forces refuses to say whether or not victory is the objective. His secretary of defense continues to mislead and misinform the American people."

In introducing Goldwater to the convention, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said there were some who said "the polls are against us, the Communists are against us, President Johnson is strong and the Republicans are weak."

He drew cheers when he said Goldwater and Miller are going to prove in November that all of these are wrong.

Meeting Planned By Democrats In Hancock Monday

The Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the Weirton Community Center to establish political headquarters in each of the three magisterial districts.

Atty. Edward A. Zagula, recently ruled official chairman of the committee by the Appeals Board of the West Virginia State Democratic Executive Committee, will preside. Zagula and Dick Wright of Chester, who held the chairmanship for eight years, had contested the position for over a month.

Other business will be arranging for a dinner in honor of H. C. Smith, Democratic candidate for governor of West Virginia, sometime in September.

The committee also will arrange to meet with county delegates to the state convention and with the Democratic candidates for office in the November general election.

Sheppard

rived at the motel about 7 p.m. Fashionably attired in a white dress, the silver-blonde left the engine in her car running as she dashed to Sheppard's room. The couple posed for photographs and went for a 20-minute swim in the motel pool.

Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said he is confident that Sheppard will be released again by Monday or Tuesday. No site has been set for the hearing on the stay, which will be before a three-judge panel.

Sheppard, tanned and looking trim, left Ohio Penitentiary at 1:10 p.m. Thursday. As he signed his bail papers he breathed: "Finally!"

Then in a brief press conference he said prison life was "hell." He said he had tried to stay in good mental and physical condition and had continued his professional reading but. . .

"Until Lee Bailey and my fiancee came along, except for my family, I had lost my faith in humanity," adding, "I've lost the 10 best years of any man's life."

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns entered the Sheppard story in January 1963 when she said she had been corresponding with Sheppard and the two planned to marry when he was released.

If he is cleared in a retrial, Sheppard said he might join the Peace Corps or perhaps do clinic work in India. He also hinted he might stay in the Cleveland area.

But he said there had to be time for track workouts, fishing, hunting and for his 17-year-old son Chip. The youth was to have been best man at Sheppard's wedding.

Sheppard startled newsmen at the motel when, in borrowed swimming trunks, he sported a perfect suntan. He quickly explained that he acquired the sunbaked look while directing outdoor recreation at the penitentiary. He also confided that he tried to stay in shape by doing 500 to 600 pushups each night with his cellmate.

A long fight still remains for Sheppard but his 10-year-old determination to prove his innocence has not lessened. He says: "I will fight anyone who says I'm not innocent until the day I die."

Continuance Granted On Burglary Charges

Burglary charges against three city youths for theft at an unoccupied W. 8th St. home on July 4 were continued Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon and the boys ranging in age from 9 to 13 were released in custody of their parents.

Judge Tobin continued the case pending further investigation of the burglary at the home owned by William Shaw of Boring Ln. in which a camera, new battery, miscellaneous tools, two boxes of Christmas decorations, a Lionel train and accessories, and an antique Thomas Edison record player with a box of cylinder records were taken.

A charge against a 15-year-old Toronto youth was returned to juvenile authorities in Jefferson County for disposition, along with recommendations from Judge Tobin.

City Man Gets 90-Day Term For TV Theft

Making one of his frequent appearances in Municipal Court, Frank Hanlon, 112 W. Center Ln., was sentended to 90 days in the County Jail at Lisbon today by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff who declared the defendant is "capable of any despicable act."

Hanlon appeared in court this morning to enter a guilty plea to a charge he stole a $25 television set owned by Maj. William Hathorn on July 8 from the Salvation Army building on W. 3rd St.

Arraigned Thursday, his case had been scheduled for Tuesday after the defendant said he wanted to secure an attorney.

"On your past record, the theft from the Salvation Army doesn't surprise me nor would the theft of a money box from a church. You are capable of any despicable act for monetary gain," the judge declared.

Examining his police record, Judge Chertoff pointed out it was Hanlon's third appearance this year.

"You appeared in this court 12 times last year on a variety of charges. This is only July 17 and I would venture to say that you have spent more than half this year in jail," the judge said.

"You're very fortunate this is only a misdemeanor. I wouldn't hesitate binding you to the Grand Jury and urging you be sent to the pententiary. That's where you belong," the judge added.

D. 1; Allan Bloor, Leetonia R. D. 1; Janet Jenkins, Rogers; James Miller, Columbiana R. D. 2; Rosa Berchtold and Mrs. Catherine Berchtold, Columbiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker, Lisbon R. D. 5.

Nine youths and three adults from Michigan will complete visits in Columbiana County Saturday.

The average human being has between eight and 12 pints of blood.

4 Youths Hurt In Auto Crash

BEAVER — Four teen-age youths were hospitalized with injuries suffered in a one - car crash Thursday afternoon at 2:30 on Dutch Ridge Rd. about three miles north of here.

George Weikel, 19, of Rochester is in "satisfactory" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with possible head injuries and contusions and abrasions of the body. He was the driver, according to Brighton Township Police Chief Vernon Hayes.

Also admitted to the hospital were Peter Mersing, 17, of Beaver R.D. 1, in "good" condition with lacerations of the forehead and abrasions of the left leg; Robert McDaniels, 16, of Rochester, in "fair" condition with lacerations and abrasions and an injury to his left jaw, and Michael Nahod, 14, also of Rochester, in "good" condition with possible head injuries and contusions and abrasions.

Athens City Income Tax Faces Discard

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The one per cent Athens city income tax, which went into effect April 1, apparently risks discard in the November election.

A citizen's group with businessman J. B. Kelly as chairman has filed a petition with 706 signatures with the city auditor, seeking to have the issue placed on the November ballot. If the tax ordinance is approved by the voters, it probably will continue at least until the scheduled expiration date, Dec. 31, 1966.

Politics Didn't Change Him

By ROB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A friend once said of Barry Goldwater: "He does everything the hard way. In baseball he even batted crosshanded."

Politics didn't change Goldwater.

After his election to the Senate in 1952 it didn't take him long to raise the nation's blood pressure.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, said publicly: "Goldwater is the nation's No. 1 political fanatic, labor baiter and peddler of class hatred."

A high ranking military commander once said privately: "Barry Goldwater may be the only man who can lead this nation out of the mess in which it is trapped."

Before he had completed his first Senate term, Goldwater had become the recognized leader of the conservative cause.

He is 6 feet, weighs an unchanging 185, has curly salt-and-pepper hair, a jutting jaw and an outdoorman's tan.

He has expensive tastes, as proven by his home atop a hill overlooking Phoenix, equipped with electronic gadgets.

Next to his desk is a VHF radio that provides weather reports. He can press a button and a movie screen rolls down from the ceiling of the study. His lawn-sprinkling system is electronically operated and the sound of a miniature waterfall in his garden is piped over his hi-fi system. One bathroom is papered with snapshots taken by the senator.

How was this man created? The past holds some answers.

His grandfather, Michael Goldwasser, one of 22 children, escaped the horrors of the ghettos and oppressive anti-Semitic laws of his native Konin, Poland, in 1848.

His travels carried him to Paris, to England, to New York and finally to the gold fields of California. He prospected the streams and the mountains until he opened a saloon, a venture that ultimately resulted in the Goldwater department store empire of Arizona. Big Mike believed anyone could be a success in the United States if he had guts and a willingness to work.

Barry Goldwater's mother came to Arizona from Illinois in 1909 at the age of 25 with a doctor's word still fresh in her mind: She had tuberculosis and only six months to live. At the age of 89, Josephine Goldwater watched her son nominated as Republican presidential candidate Wednesday night.

She often told her son: "Don't enter a race you can't win. If you lose don't tell me about it."

From the time Barry was a toddler, his mother took him with brother Bob and sister Carolyn to the U.S. Indian school some two miles from the old family home in Phoenix. They made the trip daily, in rain, wind or scorching Arizona heat. They went to see the flag ceremonies. Barry would stand at attention as Old Glory slid down the flagpole and hold that position until the last strains of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Barry's uncle Mike, a Democrat and a political conservative, schooled his nephew in the ways of politics. And he told him repeatedly that if a man's belief in an issue was firm and honest, he should stay with it no matter what the odds, nor how heavy the criticism.

From the grandfather, the uncle and mother came the shaping of an Arizona senator.

On an April morning in 1957, Goldwater refused a luncheon invitation from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Goldwater was putting the final touches on a speech blasting the GOP administration when the President called with the invitation. Goldwater decided it wouldn't be fair to dine with the President, then blast him verbally on the senate floor.

That day Goldwater said, "It is disillusioning to see the Republican party plunging headlong into the same dismal state experienced by the traditional democratic principles of Jefferson and Jackson during the days of the New Deal and Fair Deal.

"To hear a president tell us, as Mr. Eisenhower told the Washington Conference of the Advertising Council, that we must educate Americans to a need for federal aid to domestic schools, welfare, and health programs astounds me. Mr. President, every item in the federal budget can, and must, be reduced."

From then, Barry Goldwater traveled his own route, a road of conservatism that steadily attracted new followers.

Probe Slated In Slaying Of Negro Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy promises a "thorough and impartial investigation" of the fatal shooting of a Negro youth by an off-duty white police lieutenant who said the youth came at him with a knife.

The killing Thursday in a Manhattan street near a public school touched off violence among 300 teen-agers, mostly Negro, and 75 steel-helmeted police.

"Come on, shoot another Nigger," shouted one of several weeping Negro girls.

The crowd taunted police and hurled school books, bottles, cans and stones. Patrolman Edward Seabrook, 35, the only Negro policeman there, was hit on the head by a can and was taken to a hospital.

The police and the crowd surged back and forth in East 76th street for about an hour before the crowd was broken up.

The dead youth was 15-year-old James Powell, one of three Negroes Police Lt. Thomas Gilligan said he found chasing a building superintendent into an apartment building.

Police said the trouble began when the white building superintendent, cleaning the sidewalk with a hose, sprayed the three Negro youths, who then chased him into his building.

They said the three youths and the superintendent engaged in a heated argument and there reportedly were racial slurs.

Gilligan showed his badge, police said, and ordered the boys to stop banging garbage can lids and move on.

Police Inspector Joseph Coyle said the lieutenant "fired in defense of himself" when Powell came at Gilligan with a pocket knife and failed to heed a warning to stop. Coyle said the knife was found in the gutter.

U.S. Soldier Killed By Fire Of Viet Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Army enlisted man was killed by Viet Cong fire shortly before dawn today as government forces launched an operation against guerrillas in the Mekong River delta.

The American died near the provincial capital of Can Tho, 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

The death brought to 159 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in combat in Viet Nam since December 1961.

Earlier today a U.S. spokesman reported that five U.S. Navy Seabees were wounded when guerrillas ambushed their station wagon Thursday near the southern tip of Viet Nam.

The spokesman said four of the men received only minor wounds and the fifth was brought to a Saigon hospital but his condition was not serious.

The ambush occurred as the Seabees were driving on a road paralleling a canal. Guerrillas concealed along the opposite bank opened up on the vehicle with a machine-gun and rifle grenades.

Meanwhile, Premier Nguyen Khanh sent two teams of investigators to the northern border area to check his contention that Communist North Vietnamese troops are crossing the frontier.

U.S. intelligence men say so-called volunteers from the North Vietnamese Army have long crossed to the south to provide leadership for the Viet Cong but deny they have been coming down in combat units.

The United States has said any real North Vietnamese offensive would justify an immediate extension of the war to the Communist north.

Police said Adams was driving north on Jefferson St., stopped for a stop sign and then pulled out and hit the Roberts auto, which was going west on E. William Shields, 1071 Claiborne Ave., was fined $15 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Saturday night on Route 7. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

After Shields said he was hurrying to East Liverpool to locate a physician for his grandmother who was seriously ill in a Wellsville nursing home and who died later that night, Judge Chertoff said:

"I was prepared to take your license, but I will accept your explanation. But I want you to understand I do not condone speeding. You could have had an accident and caused others grief."

He originally decreed a fine of $25 and costs but called Shields back to the bench as court ended and reduced the fine to $15.

Court Grants Leniency For Traffic Case

A Beechwood man was given a suspended fine today in Municipal Court as the aftermath of a crash Thursday night in which his auto ripped out 10 guard rails at the intersection of Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and E. 4th St.

Ferguson Heath Kind Jr., 22, of 1015 Rubicon St. was ordered by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to pay court costs after a $25 fine on a reckless driving charge was suspended. Kind pleaded guilty.

Kind told police he was headed east about 35 miles an hour when he failed to make a curve at the intersection. The mishap was timed shortly before midnight.

The car struck a guard post at the beginning of the turn, continued through nine more guard poles and came to rest on top of one of the posts with the front end sticking out over the edge of the steep hill, police said.

The entire front end, right side and undercarriage of his 1960 sports coupe were damaged, officers said.

Police said the stone wall at 313 Broadway owned by Iris Lisle Ferguson also was damaged in the crash.

Tumult, Shouting Finally Dies

TV Commentators, Press Close Shop At Convention

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The tumult and the shouting within the Cow Palace finally died. Television commentators were faced with the task of summing up the events of the past four days and then closing shop.

If they performed a bit self-consciously, that was natural. For never at a national political convention had members of the printed and electronic press been so castigated.

"The convention wasn't dull," declared NBC's David Brinkley. In his view the most explosive moment of the Republican national convention came in New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's speech Tuesday night in support of amending the platform on extremism.

NBC replayed the speech shortly after the convention adjourned. The video-tape showed Rockefeller's uphill fight, the attempts of chairman Thruston Morton to maintain order against the boos and chants of "We want Barry," the glistening eyes of Mrs. Rockefeller as she watched.

Other TV correspondents, reaching hoarseness after four full days of talk, offered their views of the convention and its significance.

ABC's Howard K. Smith predicted of the coming campaign:

"One of the most flaming contests ever seen, something rare in the American political scene, a battle between liberals and conservatives."

CBS' Eric Sevareid exprssed "fear of a divisive campaign because of the civil rights issue. "We may have a violent campaign; this is the fear of a great many people here and in the nation."

The last day of televising the GOP convention was like the others: A slow start and fast finish. But the final day favored the Republicans in that the major events took place before the bedtime of many viewers across the nation.

The three networks signed off their coverage before 9 p.m.—midnight in the East—after marathon duty that demonstrated television at its peak of alertness and thorough coverage.

In his last appearance before the United Nations, the late President John F. Kennedy proposed that the Soviet Union join the United States in a manned expedition to the moon. President Johnson repeated the proposal after Kennedy's death. The Russians expressed interest but said they wanted more time to study the matter.

Tumult, Shouting Finally Dies

TV Commentators, Press Close Shop At Convention

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The tumult and the shouting within the Cow Palace finally died. Television commentators were faced with the task of summing up the events of the past four days and then closing shop.

If they performed a bit self-consciously, that was natural. For never at a national political convention had members of the printed and electronic press been so castigated.

"The convention wasn't dull," declared NBC's David Brinkley. In his view the most explosive moment of the Republican national convention came in New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's speech Tuesday night in support of amending the platform on extremism.

NBC replayed the speech shortly after the convention adjourned. The video-tape showed Rockefeller's uphill fight, the attempts of chairman Thruston Morton to maintain order against the boos and chants of "We want Barry," the glistening eyes of Mrs. Rockefeller as she watched.

Other TV correspondents, reaching hoarseness after four full days of talk, offered their views of the convention and its significance.

ABC's Howard K. Smith predicted of the coming campaign:

"One of the most flaming contests ever seen, something rare in the American political scene, a battle between liberals and conservatives."

CBS' Eric Sevareid exprssed "fear of a divisive campaign because of the civil rights issue. "We may have a violent campaign; this is the fear of a great many people here and in the nation."

The last day of televising the GOP convention was like the others: A slow start and fast finish. But the final day favored the Republicans in that the major events took place before the bedtime of many viewers across the nation.

The three networks signed off their coverage before 9 p.m.—midnight in the East—after marathon duty that demonstrated television at its peak of alertness and thorough coverage.

34,000 Hear Billy Graham At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politics, football and a record crowd of 34,000 were all part of evangelist Billy Graham's seventh appearance here Thursday night.

The huge throng covered nearly ever inch of the 12,000-seat baseball stadium—all over the playing field, in the pitchers' bullpens and under the stands.

The attendance was the largest of the 10-day Ohio crusade, and the estimated 1,850 "inquirers" who came forward after Graham's message also set an Ohio mark.

Don't Make A Move; Call UNIVAC First

At least a couple dozen actors around Hollywood now have their lives being run by UNIVAC, the big electronic brain.

Hal Humphrey

Except for the most intimately personal actions (like writing a letter home to mother), their every move is recorded by code number and fed into UNIVAC each month by Fred Barman. This fellow Barman is their business manager, a breed of Hollywood fauna which sprang up some years ago when actors first heard the word "deductible."

-:-

DURING A long hitch in the 20th Century - Fox accounting department, Barman discovered how helpless actors are about money matters, so in 1955 he set up his own business management office and became Mother Barman to several stars.

Only recently, though, did he begin using UNIVAC to tell his clients' fortunes.

"It is the quickest and most scientific way to establish a person's financial profile," says Barman, who is handsome enough to be an actor himself.

"I have now systematized 999 code numbers to cover all forms of disbursements and receipts. These numbers represent such items as wardrobe, laundry, car expense, entertainment in and outside the home, relatives, traffic tickets, gambling and what have you."

-:-

EVERY MONTH a balance sheet on each Barman client spews out of UNIVAC, and Barman studies it for the clues which will determine what financial move the client should make next.

"For example," says Barman, "I was alerted by David Janssen's UNIVAC report to advise him to buy real estate in order to change his tax picture. He bought 61 acres at La Quinta near Palm Springs, and it worked out very well."

Not all of Barman's actor-clients take Big Brother UNIVAC's advise. When Troy Donahue was planning to marry Suzanne Pleshette last Jan. 4, Barman cranked up UNIVAC and discovered his client (Troy) could save $20,000 by pushing the nuptial date back five days to Dec. 31, 1963, and filing a joint tax return.

-:-

"BUT JAN. 4 was the anniversary of their meeting," says Barman, "and I couldn't talk them out of trading a little romanticism for money."

Perhaps both Barman and Donahue should have looked over the UNIVAC report more closely, and they might have found a clue which foretold the breakup of this marriage six months later.

Although a Barman client can't sign a check without Barman's signature, and all bills are paid through his office, there still are times when Barman and UNIVAC lose control.

"I recently fired a client, a rather famous young lady, because she was absolutely incorrigible. She was spending the gross instead of the net," Barman recalls, shaking his head.

-:-

BARMAN'S FEE as a business manager is 5 per cent of the client's gross earnings. To insure that sentiment doesn't put him and UNIVAC out of business, he charges a minimum fee, too.

"Oh, I gamble sometimes with a client who may have only potential when I take him on," says Barman. "Peter Graves was once in that category, but now he is financially independent.

Graves, for those of you who haven't followed the adventures of "Fury," the TV horse, is the human star of that series. His wealth, however, came from Barman and UNIVAC's touting him on to real estate buys, not horses.

-:-

BARMAN can be a regular Sherlock Holmes and a killjoy, too. David Janssen came to him for the money to install a swimming pool, which Barman didn't think his client would have enough use for to make the expenditure.

"After looking over his balance sheet from UNIVAC the other day, I proved to David that as a result of his swimming habits each swim in his pool costs him $36," says Barman.

Sweets Create Cravings For More Sweets

You'll never lose your sweet-tooth by indulging in sweets. If you lament, "I haven't any willpower when it comes to sweets," change the record! In repeating the phrase you are setting up rationalization. That way of thinking is self - defeating.

Ida Jean Kain

Know the nutrition facts. There is a physiological reason why sweets perpetuate the craving for sweets. When you eat meals that are high in protein and moderate to low in carbohydrates (sugar and starch) your blood sugar is stabilized by hormonal control. Then if you start eating more sweets, you not only have the problem of coping with the extra calories, but blood sugar is no longer stabilized by the hormones.

—:—

FOR EXAMPLE, supposing you slight the main course of the meal in order to save the calories for a generous portion of a favorite dessert. What happens? Two to three hours later you feel a gnawing hunger. You experience what might be called a post - dessert swing.

It is important to understand the body's reaction. Sweets furnish quickly absorbable sugar which rapidly forces the blood-sugar level high and in turn stimulates the secretion of insulin. Since sugar is burned quickly, the blood - sugar level falls rapidly and you feel hungry again. Nature's hunger signal can be met with any food, but if your taste is for sweets and that is what you eat, the cycle is repeated.

You also report that when you leave off sweets the craving for them is quite overpowering. That reaction is temporary. The mechanism which the body has set up to handle the accustomed carbohydrates remains in force for awhile. Also, this physiological fact is augmented by mental desire. But once you are alert to the fact that sweets really do create an appetite for more sweets, it makes sense to put a stop to this rebound by foregoing them.

THE MOST jubilant reducers are those who find, to their pleased astonishment, that they really have conquered the craving for sweets.

To control appetite, include a protein at each of the three meals and have a protein pick-up late afternoon. Protein is metabolized more slowly, and it stays by you longer.

By leaving off sweets for three weeks you stop the powerful stimulus that is creating the craving. Then you'll be in the driver's seat, and you can take desserts or leave them. Try it —you'll be the winner!

Then if you start eating more sweets, you not only have the problem of coping with the extra calories, but blood sugar is no longer stabilized by the hormones.

FOR EXAMPLE, supposing you slight the main course of the meal in order to save the calories for a generous portion of a favorite dessert. What happens? Two to three hours later you feel a gnawing hunger. You experience what might be called a post - dessert swing.

It is important to understand the body's reaction. Sweets furnish quickly absorbable sugar which rapidly forces the blood-sugar level high and in turn stimulates the secretion of insulin. Since sugar is burned quickly, the blood - sugar level falls rapidly and you feel hungry again. Nature's hunger signal can be met with any food, but if your taste is for sweets and that is what you eat, the cycle is repeated.

You also report that when you leave off sweets the craving for them is quite overpowering. That reaction is temporary. The mechanism which the body has set up to handle the accustomed carbohydrates remains in force for awhile. Also, this physiological fact is augmented by mental desire. But once you are alert to the fact that sweets really do create an appetite for more sweets, it makes sense to put a stop to this rebound by foregoing them.

THE MOST jubilant reducers are those who find, to their pleased astonishment, that they really have conquered the craving for sweets.

To control appetite, include a protein at each of the three meals and have a protein pick-up late afternoon. Protein is metabolized more slowly, and it stays by you longer.

By leaving off sweets for three weeks you stop the powerful stimulus that is creating the craving. Then you'll be in the driver's seat, and you can take desserts or leave them. Try it —you'll be the winner!

April's Pickings Not So Good . . .

In April when the air is still cool and the Major League teams are shivering through those early games, sportswriters dream up predictions on the outcome of the pennant races.

By the time the major leaguers reach the middle of the season, these predictions sometimes look ridiculous. That seems to be the case in this corner — at least for the present.

The races aren't over by any means, but the trend seems to be there.

We picked St. Louis to win the National League flag, with Minnesota to finish on top of the heap in the Junior Circuit.

So by July 17 we find our nifty picks trailing. St. Louis is 7½ games out in the National League and Minnesota is 6½ behind.

For our second choice in the National, we liked Los Angeles. The Dodgers' pitching hasn't been what it used to be and the West Coast club is 9 games out. New York was our second-place pick in the American League. I guess anybody's nuts to bet against the Yanks.

They got off to a poor start, but when the chips were put on the table this week as Baltimore came to town in first place the Bronx Bombers went to work and quicky put the Orioles in their place, second place that is.

As far as the district teams are concerned, Pittsburgh and Cleveland, we are about right. We picked the Pirates to finish sixth. and they are currently holding fourth place. As for Cleveland, we put the Indians down for seventh and they are in No. 8 spot.

The old reliables never let us down. You can always pick Houston and the Mets ninth and 10th and be right most of the time. The same goes for Kansas City and Washington in the American Loop.

Bowyer On Ohio Star Team . . .

ALL-STAR football games are on tap next month at Wheeling on Aug. 8 and at Canton on Aug. 14.

East Liverpool will have one representative at Wheeling, but no one from the area was selected for the Ohio battle at Canton between the North and South.

Bolton Bob Bowyer, the fire-plug fullback for the Potters last season, has been chosen to perform for the Ohio team in the Ohio-West Virginia game at Wheeling.

Bowyer, who is headed for Findlay College, will be vieing for a fullback spot when he reports to the Ohio grid camp at West Liberty College July 28.

Canton Game Set Aug. 14 . . .

OVER in Canton, a four-day coaches' clinic, beginning Aug. 10, will be tied in with the North-South game.

The North has had trouble winning recently, the South taking the last three contests.

The South probably has the fastest back in Dayton Dubar's Drake Garrett who has covered 100 yards in 9.7. Probably the fastest back in the North backfield will be Massillon's Bill Blunt.

Bob DiStefano, the player of the year from Martins Ferry who gave the Potters fits last year, probably will be at quarterback for the South.

Mel Adams of Logan is head coach for the South, with John Wirtz of Cleveland St. Ignatius running the Yankees.

Ohio Cager Moves To Farrell . . .

WE SEE where Brookfield High (near Youngstown) is doing a slow burn over its star basketball player moving to Farrell, Pa.

The Board of Education is asking the WPIAL and the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Assn. to conduct an investigation into the transfer of Charles Radu.

Farrell is across the state line in Mercer County and has been known for its outstanding basketball teams.

A spokesman for the Brookfield Boosters club said that Radu's parents recently purchased a home in Wheatland, Pa., which is in the Farrell school district, and they intend to rent out their Brookfield home. The club spokesman also pointed out that the head of the Farrell Boosters Club handled the real estate deal.

Radu was a sophomore at Brookfield last season and a regular on a team that showed a 15-5 record. A good jumper and scorer, Radu chalked up 151 points and was named to the Steel Valley Conference honorable mention list.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JIM HARRIS, who was named head basketball coach at Rochester Wednesday night, was informed Thursday that the Board had awarded him a three-year contract plus a small increase in salary over what was first quoted.

Harris also was given the job as cross-country coach, a new sport at the Beaver County school.

We wish Jim much success in his new post.

BEING named to all-star teams in East Liverpool seems to run in four families. Joe Walker and Len Walker, Mike Smith and Bill Smith, Jim Massey and Joe Massey and Steve and Ed Golden were named to the Little League and Colt League teams respectively.

JOHN ROSS, who guided Dayton Belmont to the Ohio cage championship this past season, has resigned his coaching duties.

He will continue as a teacher and said he plans to complete college work for his master's degree. Roy James, an assistant to Ross, was named to fill the position.

Ring's 2-Hitter Leads Newell To 14-3 Decision

Gary (Perfect Game) Ring limited Frankfort to two hits in Newell's 14-3 victory Thursday in the South Side Hot Stove Senior Division.

Ring fanned 11 batters as he and his teammates pounded out 14 hits. Ring helped his own cause with a home run while Dan Foltz and Bob Walls had two hits each and three RBI's.

Len Hall paced Frankfort smacking a double to drive in all three runs.

In another Senior Division battle Thursday, Hanover nipped Lawrenceville, 7-6, with Anderson the winning hurler and Brown the loser.

Two junior games played Wednesday showed Newell bombing the Hanover Giants, 29-1 while Frankfort topped Hookstown, 8-6.

Booher was the winning pitcher for Newell while Horoszko and Thurm Wilson homered and Dave Williams had a perfect four-for-four night.

Lloyd Cox pitched Frankfort to victory over Hookstown with Bill Wright getting the loss. Steve Verzella had two hits for Hookstown.

The fastest physical thing a person can do is wink his eye.

Nichols Leads PGA With Record 64

3 Strokes In Front Of Nicklaus

By JIM BECKER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't say that Gary Player isn't earning his keep over at Jack Nicklaus' house—and it's pretty steep keeping.

Player, who is Jack's house guest at the PGA golf tournament this week, paused between efforts to eat Nicklaus out of house and home, and gave his host a hint that straightened out his swing.

That's a little like adding an extra story to the Empire State building, or an extra steak on little Gary's plate.

But Jack says he can use all the help he can get this week. He's trying to defend his PGA championship before the home folk, and grab the last spot in the golf World Series.

Meanwhile, Player, known as the South African locust, is setting a grocery bill record, Arnold Palmer is dropping over at night and trouncing Nicklaus at snooker, and baby-faced Bobby Nichols is leading after the first round of the PGA with a record 64.

Nichols' round, achieved with the aid of a $5 putter he found on the back shelf in the pro shop in Anchorage, Ky., was also a record for the revamped 6,851-yard Columbus Country Club course.

Nichols, who comes from Louisville, went to Texas on a football scholarship and wound up playing golf instead, was sharper with his bargain basement putter than Palmer was with the snooker stick.

He finished with a three stroke edge on Nicklaus, who had his best opening round in a major championship all year with a 67. Mike Souchak also had 67.

Palmer had a menacing 68, along with five others, including former British Open champion Bob Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, Billy Casper and Don January.

Ben Hogan, the 51-year-old, two-time champion and all-time great had 70, even par, along with Player, and Tony Lema, the new British Open King, had 71. U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi was at 72, not out of it but needing to get moving.

PGA Leaders

Here's how the leaders scored Thursday in the opening round of the 46th PGA championship:

Bobby Nichols	32-32—64
Jack Nicklaus	34-33—67
Mike Souchak	33-34—67
Paul Haviland	34-34—68
Don January	32-36—68
Bob Charles	31-37—68
Tom Nieporte	35-33—68
Arnold Palmer	34-34—68
Billy Casper	34-34—68
Bo Wininger	35-34—69
Jon Gustin	34-35—69
Joe Conrad	34-35—69
Bob Keller	33-36—69

Phils Regain First; Braves Creep Up

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers aren't staging any music appreciation nights for Manager Walt Alston, but he has to be enjoying that steady hum of hits.

The defending world champions, closing the gap on the National League leaders since the All-Star Game, continued their heavy hitting at St. Louis Thursday night by walloping the Cardinals 10-2 behind a 13-hit attack.

Ron Fairly again was the key to the attack, collecting his third homer in two nights plus a pair of singles and driving in four runs while the Dodgers finished the three-game set against the Cardinals with 30 runs and 39 hits.

Since the All-Star break, a period of nine games, the Dodgers have hit at an amazing .303 clip with Fairly showing the way at .412. More important, however, has been the awakening of defending batting champion Tommy Davis, finally starting to hit with regularity.

Davis, who hit .326 last season while winning the batting title for the second straight year, has hammered away at .342 since the All-Star Game and lifted his average to a modest, but respectable .268.

The over-all hitting surge has carried the Dodgers to the .500 level for only the third time this season, cut three games off their deficit and pulled them to within eight games of first place —the closest they've been to the top since June 22.

Meanwhile, Philadelphia and San Francisco again exchanged places in the battle for first place. The Phillies rode three hits by rally - starting Cookie Rojas to a 7-5 victory over Pittsburgh and a lead at four percentage over the Giants. Milwaukee's Hank Fischer stopped San Francisco on four hits, 6-0.

Third - place Cincinnati also closed the gap in the tightening race, moving to within 3 1-3 game of the lead by downing Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs crushed the New York Mets 11-1.

Fairly, who has hit only six homers all season, provided the Dodgers with the only runs they needed by slamming a three-run homer in a four-run, first-inning uprising. He wound up the St. Louis series with six hits and 10 runs batted in.

The victim of the Dodgers' first-inning surge was Ray Sadecki, the Cardinals' big winner who now is 10-7. Joe Moeller won it with Bob Miller's relief help.

The Phillies, winning only their second game in the last eight, scored two runs in the third inning after Rojas started things with a single and came back with three more in the fifth after Rojas smacked a leadoff double. Rojas also collected another single.

The Phillies went against the book in the eighth when Jack Baldschun, working in relief of Art Mahaffey, walked Jerry Lynch intentionally, filling the bases and putting the potential winning run on with two out. Baldschun got out of the jam by striking out Donn Clendenon.

The Braves handed the Giants their third straight setback and added to their own streak by posting their eight victory in the last 10 game and the 14th in 19 games.

Fischer brought his record to 7-5 and contributed to his own support with a two-run double. He didn't need it as Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Dennis Menke homered off Gaylord Perry.

The Reds scored the clincher in the third inning, breaking a 2-2 tie, and then held off the Colts behind the relief pitching of Bob Purkey and Sam Ellis. Marty Keough scored the winning run, beating out a hit to deep short and racing home from first on Deron Johnson's two-out single.

Ernie Broglio was touched for 10 hits but won his first game for the Cubs since he was acquired from St. Louis June 15. He had heavy support with Billy Cowan supplying a two-run homer and Len Gabrielson contributing a double and two singles.

'Arnie's Army' Buttons Sell Faster Than 'Jack's Pack'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "Arnie's Army" buttons are outselling "Jack's Pack" 2 to 1 at the PGA Golf Tournament.

"Lema's Legion" is running a poor third.

"This has really surprised us," said concessionaire W. B. McPherson. "We thought there would be a big run on Nicklaus' buttons because this is Jack's home town.

"It looks like we may run out of Palmer buttons and have some Nicklaus buttons left over. Also, the Lema buttons aren't going the way we expected after he won the British Open."

Now golf fans can buy buttons for their favorite golf star —at least, if he's one of the "Big Three," Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Tony Lema —just as they can for their favorite political candidate.

They sell for 50 cents.

Lema was upset by the development and stopped in the middle of his opening round Thursday to go to the sidelines and examine one of the button-loaded hawkers.

"I'm seeing my attorney," Tony said, afterward. "I don't think they can use my name without permission. I've got news for them—they've got a partner. I expect 30 cents out of every 50."

Palmer shrugged. "I'm putting out some buttons on my own," he said. "We've copyrighted 'Arnie's Army.'"

Nicklaus said, "Let them sell 'em—I don't care. Personally, I'm flattered."

Night Golf Makes Debut At Wheeling

WHEELING (AP) — Nighttime golfing made its debut in West Virginia Thursday night as Oglebay Park flipped a switch to illuminate its 18-hole course.

The public course uses 31 light poles and about 75 fixtures hidden in trees.

Oglebay is the first course to use the "quartz iodine" lighting system developed by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc.

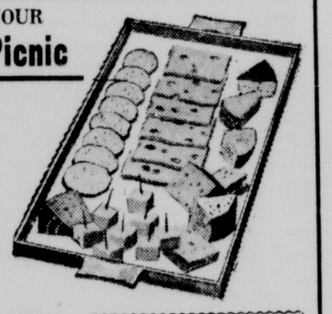

The greens are lighted by tiny, 400-watt bulbs and the fairways are lit up with 1,000-watt bulbs.

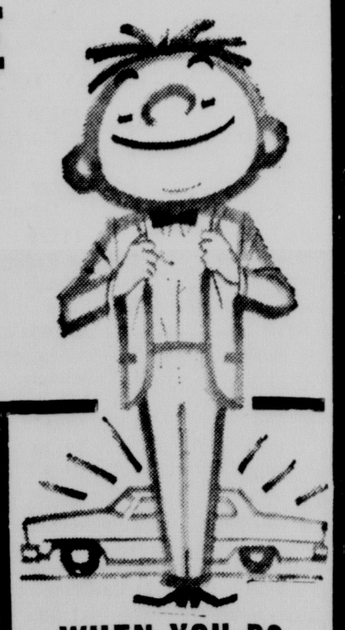

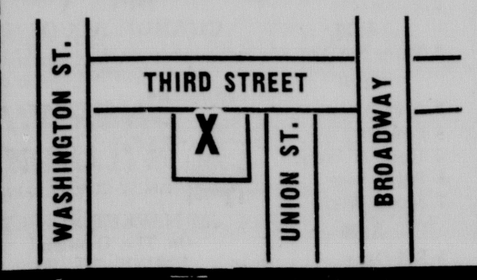

Management of the course said the golfing day will be extended about three hours.

Pete Retzlaff Signs With Eagles At Raise

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pete Retzlaff signed his 1964 contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League Thursday and remarked: "I got a raise. I'm satisfied."

Retzlaff signed a one-year contract with the customary one-year option. No financial terms were announced.

April's Pickings Not So Good . . .

In April when the air is still cool and the Major League teams are shivering through those early games, sportswriters dream up predictions on the outcome of the pennant races.

By the time the major leaguers reach the middle of the season, these predictions sometimes look ridiculous. That seems to be the case in this corner — at least for the present.

The races aren't over by any means, but the trend seems to be there.

We picked St. Louis to win the National League flag, with Minnesota to finish on top of the heap in the Junior Circuit.

So by July 17 we find our nifty picks trailing. St. Louis is 7½ games out in the National League and Minnesota is 6½ behind.

For our second choice in the National, we liked Los Angeles. The Dodgers' pitching hasn't been what it used to be and the West Coast club is 9 games out. New York was our second-place pick in the American League. I guess anybody's nuts to bet against the Yanks.

They got off to a poor start, but when the chips were put on the table this week as Baltimore came to town in first place the Bronx Bombers went to work and quicky put the Orioles in their place, second place that is.

As far as the district teams are concerned, Pittsburgh and Cleveland, we are about right. We picked the Pirates to finish sixth. and they are currently holding fourth place. As for Cleveland, we put the Indians down for seventh and they are in No. 8 spot.

The old reliables never let us down. You can always pick Houston and the Mets ninth and 10th and be right most of the time. The same goes for Kansas City and Washington in the American Loop.

Bowyer On Ohio Star Team . . .

ALL-STAR football games are on tap next month at Wheeling on Aug. 8 and at Canton on Aug. 14.

East Liverpool will have one representative at Wheeling, but no one from the area was selected for the Ohio battle at Canton between the North and South.

Bolton Bob Bowyer, the fire-plug fullback for the Potters last season, has been chosen to perform for the Ohio team in the Ohio-West Virginia game at Wheeling.

Bowyer, who is headed for Findlay College, will be vieing for a fullback spot when he reports to the Ohio grid camp at West Liberty College July 28.

Canton Game Set Aug. 14 . . .

OVER in Canton, a four-day coaches' clinic, beginning Aug. 10, will be tied in with the North-South game.

The North has had trouble winning recently, the South taking the last three contests.

The South probably has the fastest back in Dayton Dubar's Drake Garrett who has covered 100 yards in 9.7. Probably the fastest back in the North backfield will be Massillon's Bill Blunt.

Bob DiStefano, the player of the year from Martins Ferry who gave the Potters fits last year, probably will be at quarterback for the South.

Mel Adams of Logan is head coach for the South, with John Wirtz of Cleveland St. Ignatius running the Yankees.

Ohio Cager Moves To Farrell . . .

WE SEE where Brookfield High (near Youngstown) is doing a slow burn over its star basketball player moving to Farrell, Pa.

The Board of Education is asking the WPIAL and the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Assn. to conduct an investigation into the transfer of Charles Radu.

Farrell is across the state line in Mercer County and has been known for its outstanding basketball teams.

A spokesman for the Brookfield Boosters club said that Radu's parents recently purchased a home in Wheatland, Pa., which is in the Farrell school district, and they intend to rent out their Brookfield home. The club spokesman also pointed out that the head of the Farrell Boosters Club handled the real estate deal.

Radu was a sophomore at Brookfield last season and a regular on a team that showed a 15-5 record. A good jumper and scorer, Radu chalked up 151 points and was named to the Steel Valley Conference honorable mention list.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JIM HARRIS, who was named head basketball coach at Rochester Wednesday night, was informed Thursday that the Board had awarded him a three-year contract plus a small increase in salary over what was first quoted.

Harris also was given the job as cross-country coach, a new sport at the Beaver County school.

We wish Jim much success in his new post.

BEING named to all-star teams in East Liverpool seems to run in four families. Joe Walker and Len Walker, Mike Smith and Bill Smith, Jim Massey and Joe Massey and Steve and Ed Golden were named to the Little League and Colt League teams respectively.

JOHN ROSS, who guided Dayton Belmont to the Ohio cage championship this past season, has resigned his coaching duties.

He will continue as a teacher and said he plans to complete college work for his master's degree. Roy James, an assistant to Ross, was named to fill the position.

Ring's 2-Hitter Leads Newell To 14-3 Decision

Gary (Perfect Game) Ring limited Frankfort to two hits in Newell's 14-3 victory Thursday in the South Side Hot Stove Senior Division.

Ring fanned 11 batters as he and his teammates pounded out 14 hits. Ring helped his own cause with a home run while Dan Foltz and Bob Walls had two hits each and three RBI's.

Len Hall paced Frankfort smacking a double to drive in all three runs.

In another Senior Division battle Thursday, Hanover nipped Lawrenceville, 7-6, with Anderson the winning hurler and Brown the loser.

Two junior games played Wednesday showed Newell bombing the Hanover Giants, 29-1 while Frankfort topped Hookstown, 8-6.

Booher was the winning pitcher for Newell while Horoszko and Thurm Wilson homered and Dave Williams had a perfect four-for-four night.

Lloyd Cox pitched Frankfort to victory over Hookstown with Bill Wright getting the loss. Steve Verzella had two hits for Hookstown.

The fastest physical thing a person can do is wink his eye.

By JIM BECKER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't say that Gary Player isn't earning his keep over at Jack Nicklaus' house—and it's pretty steep keeping.

Player, who is Jack's house guest at the PGA golf tournament this week, paused between efforts to eat Nicklaus out of house and home, and gave his host a hint that straightened out his swing.

That's a little like adding an extra story to the Empire State building, or an extra steak on little Gary's plate.

But Jack says he can use all the help he can get this week. He's trying to defend his PGA championship before the home folk, and grab the last spot in the golf World Series.

Meanwhile, Player, known as the South African locust, is setting a grocery bill record, Arnold Palmer is dropping over at night and trouncing Nicklaus at snooker, and baby-faced Bobby Nichols is leading after the first round of the PGA with a record 64.

Nichols' round, achieved with the aid of a $5 putter he found on the back shelf in the pro shop in Anchorage, Ky., was also a record for the revamped 6,851-yard Columbus Country Club course.

Nichols, who comes from Louisville, went to Texas on a football scholarship and wound up playing golf instead, was sharper with his bargain basement putter than Palmer was with the snooker stick.

He finished with a three stroke edge on Nicklaus, who had his best opening round in a major championship all year with a 67. Mike Souchak also had 67.

Palmer had a menacing 68, along with five others, including former British Open champion Bob Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, Billy Casper and Don January.

Ben Hogan, the 51-year-old, two-time champion and all-time great had 70, even par, along with Player, and Tony Lema, the new British Open King, had 71. U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi was at 72, not out of it but needing to get moving.

PGA Leaders

Here's how the leaders scored Thursday in the opening round of the 46th PGA championship:

Bobby Nichols	32-32—64
Jack Nicklaus	34-33—67
Mike Souchak	33-34—67
Paul Haviland	34-34—68
Don January	32-36—68
Bob Charles	31-37—68
Tom Nieporte	35-33—68
Arnold Palmer	34-34—68
Billy Casper	34-34—68
Bo Wininger	35-34—69

'Arnie's Army' Buttons Sell Faster Than 'Jack's Pack'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "Arnie's Army" buttons are outselling "Jack's Pack" 2 to 1 at the PGA Golf Tournament.

"Lema's Legion" is running a poor third.

"This has really surprised us," said concessionaire W. B. McPherson. "We thought there would be a big run on Nicklaus' buttons because this is Jack's home town.

"It looks like we may run out of Palmer buttons and have some Nicklaus buttons left over. Also, the Lema buttons aren't going the way we expected after he won the British Open."

Now golf fans can buy buttons for their favorite golf star—at least, if he's one of the "Big Three," Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Tony Lema—just as they can for their favorite political candidate.

They sell for 50 cents.

Lema was upset by the development and stopped in the middle of his opening round Thursday to go to the sidelines and examine one of the button-loaded hawkers.

"I'm seeing my attorney," Tony said, afterward. "I don't think they can use my name without permission. I've got news for them—they've got a partner. I expect 30 cents out of every 50."

Palmer shrugged. "I'm putting out some buttons on my own," he said. "We've copyrighted 'Arnie's Army.'"

Nicklaus said, "Let them sell 'em—I don't care. Personally, I'm flattered."

Phils Regain First; Braves Creep Up

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers aren't staging any music appreciation nights for Manager Walt Alston, but he has to be enjoying that steady hum of hits.

The defending world champions, closing the gap on the National League leaders since the All-Star Game, continued their heavy hitting at St. Louis Thursday night by walloping the Cardinals 10-2 behind a 13-hit attack.

Ron Fairly again was the key to the attack, collecting his third homer in two nights plus a pair of singles and driving in four runs while the Dodgers finished the three-game set against the Cardinals with 30 runs and 39 hits.

Since the All-Star break, a period of nine games, the Dodgers have hit at an amazing .303 clip with Fairly showing the way at .412. More important, however, has been the awakening of defending batting champion Tommy Davis, finally starting to hit with regularity.

Davis, who hit .326 last season while winning the batting title for the second straight year, has hammered away at .342 since the All-Star Game and lifted his average to a modest, but respectable .268.

The over-all hitting surge has carried the Dodgers to the .500 level for only the third time this season, cut three games off their deficit and pulled them to within eight games of first place—the closest they've been to the top since June 22.

Meanwhile, Philadelphia and San Francisco again exchanged places in the battle for first place. The Phillies rode three hits by rally - starting Cookie Rojas to a 7-5 victory over Pittsburgh and a lead at four percentage over the Giants. Milwaukee's Hank Fischer stopped San Francisco on four hits, 6-0.

Third - place Cincinnati also closed the gap in the tightening race, moving to within 3 1-3 game of the lead by downing Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs crushed the New York Mets 11-1.

Fairly, who has hit only six homers all season, provided the Dodgers with the only runs they needed by slamming a three-run homer in a four-run, first-inning uprising. He wound up the St. Louis series with six hits and 10 runs batted in.

The victim of the Dodgers' first-inning surge was Ray Sadecki, the Cardinals' big winner who now is 10-7. Joe Moeller won it with Bob Miller's relief help.

The Phillies, winning only their second game in the last eight, scored two runs in the third inning after Rojas started things with a single and came back with three more in the fifth after Rojas smacked a leadoff double. Rojas also collected another single.

The Phillies went against the book in the eighth when Jack Baldschun, working in relief of Art Mahaffey, walked Jerry Lynch intentionally, filling the bases and putting the potential winning run on with two out. Baldschun got out of the jam by striking out Donn Clendenon.

The Braves handed the Giants their third straight setback and added to their own streak by posting their eight victory in the last 10 game and the 14th in 19 games.

Fischer brought his record to 7-5 and contributed to his own support with a two-run double. He didn't need it as Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Dennis Menke homered off Gaylord Perry.

The Reds scored the clincher in the third inning, breaking a 2-2 tie, and then held off the Colts behind the relief pitching of Bob Purkey and Sam Ellis. Marty Keough scored the winning run, beating out a hit to deep short and racing home from first on Deron Johnson's two-out single.

Ernie Broglio was touched for 10 hits but won his first game for the Cubs since he was acquired from St. Louis June 15. He had heavy support with Billy Cowan supplying a two-run homer and Len Gabrielson contributing a double and two singles.

Night Golf Makes Debut At Wheeling

WHEELING (AP) — Nighttime golfing made its debut in West Virginia Thursday night as Oglebay Park flipped a switch to illuminate its 18-hole course.

The public course uses 31 light poles and about 75 fixtures hidden in trees.

Oglebay is the first course to use the "quartz iodine" lighting system developed by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc.

The greens are lighted by tiny, 400-watt bulbs and the fairways are lit up with 1,000-watt bulbs.

Management of the course said the golfing day will be extended about three hours.

Barber Pitches Orioles Back To First, Stops Yanks, 6-1

Southpaw Allows Bombers 4 Hits

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

To Hank Bauer, he might be "the disappointment," but to the New York Yankees he's the nemesis.

He—Steve Barber—pitched and batted Baltimore back into first place in the American League Thursday night, leading the Orioles to a 6-1 triumph over the New York Yankees.

The victory pushed the Orioles one-half game and two percentage points ahead of the Yankees and further tightened the AL pennant race. Chicago, a 9-3 winner over Boston, stands in third place, only 1½ games from first.

Manager Bauer, recently discussing his Orioles, labeled Barber the disappointment of the team this season. After all, he was 12-7 with a 2.78 earned run average at this time last year whereas he 's 5-7 with a 3.95 ERA now.

That, however, is not the Barber the Yankees have seen this season. The 25-year-old lefthander has won only two games in seven starts the past month, but both have been against New York. He has allowed just one run in each contest.

His victory Thursday night came on a four-hitter and snapped the Yankees' six-game winning streak and the Orioles' four-game losing streak. Even more bitter for New York, though, was Barber's two-run homer in the fifth inning.

The hit wiped out a 1-0 Yankee lead and put Baltimore in front to stay.

In other AL games, Washington knocked off Minnesota 7-2 and Cleveland outslugged Kansas City 12-9 in 10 innings.

Barber's homer was his first of the season and fourth of his career. It came on the first pitch from Jim Bouton after the Yankee starter retired two batters following Sam Bowens' lead off double. Bowens later added a pair of singles, driving in a run.

The Yankees got only one hit after the fourth, Tom Tresh's second single in the sixth. They scored in the second on Elston Howard's double, an infield out and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly.

Bill Skowron, playing only his second game with Chicago, drove in three runs with a double and two singles as the White Sox unleashed a 16-hit attack against the Red Sox. Johnny Buzhardt won his third straight game from Boston.

The Twins continued their home run hitting, getting one each from Tony Oliva and Bob Allison, but that's all they got. Don Lock and Don Blasingame each batted in a pair of runs in the Senators' five-run ninth that broke a 2-2 tie.

Cleveland won a wild game from Kansas City with three runs in the 10th, the winning run coming on Woodie Held's double and two more scoring on a double by Vic Davalillo. The Indians rocketed to a 7-0 lead in the first inning but eventually fell behind 9-7.

They tied the game in the eighth on Joe Azcue's homer and Dick Howser's run-scoring single.

Wright Hurls South Side To 2-1 Decision

Bill Wright allowed one run in the first inning then went on to pitch six frames of scoreless ball as South Side nipped the Realtors, 2-1 in Colt League action Thursday.

After the Realtors scored their lone run, South Side bounced back with two runs in the second inning to give Wright all the working edge he needed. Owens was the hitting star with a triple to drive in both runs.

Both Wright and Joe Massey, the losing hurler, allowed only six hits. Wright fanned nine batters and Massey eight.

Wright helped his own cause with a double and Bayless doubled for the winners. Ed Golden stroked two hits and Quetot a double for the Realtors.

Colorful Golfer Gains Semi-Finals

Public Links Leader Hopes Clubs Will Hold Together

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — You can put Yates Adams down as one of the most colorful golfers the game ever has seen.

The 27-year-old dental salesman from High Point, N.C., has reached Friday's 36-hole semifinals of the National Public Links tournament at Francis Gross course with a wildly cheering Adams Army behind him.

Adams is a rawboned 6-foot-7, talks a blue streak and peers out from big glasses.

He would be conspicuous anywhere, even if he didn't wear brown plaid Bermuda shorts and a white tee-shirt.

He has only nine clubs — all battered, including a wedge that is as smooth as a tablespoon. The talkative Adams insists he hasn't the money to know where his next hamburger is coming from and he buys one golf ball at a time. He plays with it—whether it is cut or not—until it is lost.

Even a caveman would be able to swing a club better than Adams. He cocks his legs better than he does his wrists, and he lets go like a discus thrower. His follow-through brings the club twirling over his head. But the ball drills out there 280 yards.

On the greens, Adams, at times creeps up on the ball, his putter wagging and taps the ball without taking a stance. And it goes in.

In Thursday's quarter-finals, Adams defeated defending champion Bob Lunn of San Francisco 1 up.

"If I never saw it I wouldn't believe it," said Lunn.

"I didn't even know Lunn was last year's winner, said Adams.

"I just go out to play. As for pressure I don't know what that is. The only time I may have it is thinking if my clubs will stay together until I finish this tournament — which is the first major one I've ever been in."

In the semifinals Adams will face Bill McDonald, a music major at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan., where his father is baseball coach. The other match sends 20-year-old Norwegian born Arne Dokka of Sherman Oaks, Calif., against Dean Wilson, 31, an Omaha Postal clerk.

Edwards Leading Owners In Races Won This Year

James F. Edwards, owner of three race tracks, is leading the nation's horse owners in the number of races won this year but not one of his victories have been won at any of his own tracks which include Fairmount Park in Illinois, Wheeling Downs and Waterford Park in West Virginia.

Edwards has made it a steadfast policy never to race his famed Audley Farm horses at his own tracks, believing that eyebrows might be raised if he were too successful. But he has been setting records elsewhere.

Audley Farm horses have taken down first money in 141 races as of July 4. The nearest rival is Marion VanBerg, perennially one of the nation's leading owner - trainers. Last year VanBerg led the owners in America with 201 winners and Audley Farms was second with 155.

During the first five racing days of this month, eleven Audley Farm Horses won at six different tracks — Suffolk Downs, Cahokia Downs, Ak-Sar-Ben, Woodbine, Monmouth Park and Aqueduct. On May 20, Edwards' horses won eight races at six different tracks, establishing an all time record for the number of wins by any one stable in a single day.

At the present rate, Audley Farm appears to be invincible and stands a good chance of breaking the world record for number of winners in any one year, held by VanBerg and established in 1960 when 221 of his colorbearers entered the winners' circle.

Edwards has approximately 150 horses in training at all times and uses Audley Farm, at Berryville, Va., as his focal point. Every trainer has strict orders to ship back to the farm any horse or horses that may go sore or lame and they would be immediately replaced with horses that have been freshened up at the farm.

Edwards, himself, follows the movements of every one of his horses and trainers and is always on the alert for new stock. Hardly a day passes that Audley Farm doesn't claim one or more horses to add to their already large strings and to replace the many that are being claimed from them. Edwards also breeds many horses each year and is always ready to buy, sell or trade horses with anyone.

A busy man?, yes, he also supervises the operations of his 13 mattress factories throughout the United States.

Foul Claim Decides 1st In Sea Trial

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Constellation beat Nefertiti by two seconds over a 24-mile course Thursday in the observation trials for America's Cup defense candidates on Rhode Island Sound.

Officially, however, Nefertiti was declared the winner after Constellation fouled the committee boat crossing the starting line. Constellation continued sailing the course in accordance with instructions from the race committee.

Campbell Blazes To New World Auto Speed Record

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Speed demon Donald Campbell once said he would quit racing if he holds both the world auto and sea speed records.

Now that he has them both as the result of his 403.1 mile per hour auto record set Friday, the 43-year-old Briton apparently intends to keep racing.

His target is the speed of 407.45 m.p.h. set last Aug. 5 by American Craig Breedlove in a three-ton, three-wheeled jet-powered car on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. This is not an official auto record because of the jet power.

Campbell zoomed his 30-foot, 4,250 horsepower Bluebird to 403.1 m.p.h. twice in two runs over the dry salt bed of Lake Eyre in Southern Australia.

The speed eclipsed the record of 394.196 m.p.h. set by the late John Cobb on the Bonneville Salt Flats on Sept. 16, 1947 in a 2,860 horse - power Railton Special.

Campbell said the condition of the track would determine when he would make another attempt in his $4 million car.

Campbell set his sea record of 260.35 m.p.h. in 1959 with a jet-powered hydroplane.

Racing came naturally to Campbell. His father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, established many land and sea records.

Barber Pitches Orioles Back To First, Stops Yanks, 6-1

Southpaw Allows Bombers 4 Hits

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

To Hank Bauer, he might be "the disappointment," but to the New York Yankees he's the nemesis.

He—Steve Barber—pitched and batted Baltimore back into first place in the American League Thursday night, leading the Orioles to a 6-1 triumph over the New York Yankees.

The victory pushed the Orioles one-half game and two percentage points ahead of the Yankees and further tightened the AL pennant race. Chicago, a 9-3 winner over Boston, stands in third place, only 1½ games from first.

Manager Bauer, recently discussing his Orioles, labeled Barber the disappointment of the team this season. After all, he was 12-7 with a 2.78 earned run average at this time last year whereas he 's 5-7 with a 3.95 ERA now.

That, however, is not the Barber the Yankees have seen this season. The 25-year-old lefthander has won only two games in seven starts the past month, but both have been against New York. He has allowed just one run in each contest.

His victory Thursday night came on a four-hitter and snapped the Yankees' six-game winning streak and the Orioles' four-game losing streak. Even more bitter for New York, though, was Barber's two-run homer in the fifth inning.

The hit wiped out a 1-0 Yankee lead and put Baltimore in front to stay.

In other AL games, Washington knocked off Minnesota 7-2 and Cleveland outslugged Kansas City 12-9 in 10 innings.

Barber's homer was his first of the season and fourth of his career. It came on the first pitch from Jim Bouton after the Yankee starter retired two batters following Sam Bowens' lead off double. Bowens later added a pair of singles, driving in a run.

The Yankees got only one hit after the fourth, Tom Tresh's second single in the sixth. They scored in the second on Elston Howard's double, an infield out and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly.

Bill Skowron, playing only his second game with Chicago, drove in three runs with a double and two singles as the White Sox unleashed a 16-hit attack against the Red Sox. Johnny Buzhardt won his third straight game from Boston.

The Twins continued their home run hitting, getting one each from Tony Oliva and Bob Allison, but that's all they got. Don Lock and Don Blasingame each batted in a pair of runs in the Senators' five-run ninth that broke a 2-2 tie.

Cleveland won a wild game from Kansas City with three runs in the 10th, the winning run coming on Woodie Held's double and two more scoring on a double by Vic Davalillo. The Indians rocketed to a 7-0 lead in the first inning but eventually fell behind 9-7.

They tied the game in the eighth on Joe Azcue's homer and Dick Howser's run-scoring single.

Wright Hurls South Side To 2-1 Decision

Bill Wright allowed one run in the first inning then went on to pitch six frames of scoreless ball as South Side nipped the Realtors, 2-1 in Colt League action Thursday.

After the Realtors scored their lone run, South Side bounced back with two runs in the second inning to give Wright all the working edge he needed. Owens was the hitting star with a triple to drive in both runs.

Both Wright and Joe Massey, the losing hurler, allowed only six hits. Wright fanned nine batters and Massey eight.

Young Golfer Marks Self Top Contender

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Young Shirley Englehorn of Los Angeles established herself as a top contender in the first annual Ladies Professional Golf Association Yankee Open at Atlas Valley Country Club Thursday by taking low pro honors in the pro-amateur preliminary with a one-over par 73.

Favored Mickey Wright, who has won seven of 12 tournaments this year including last week's U.S.G.A. Women's Open at San Diego, Calif., played Atlas for the first time and shot 77.

The $12,650, 54-hole tournament gets under way today with 31 pros and 10 amateurs making up the field.

Colorful Golfer Gains Semi-Finals

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — You can put Yates Adams down as one of the most colorful golfers the game ever has seen.

The 27-year-old dental salesman from High Point, N.C., has reached Friday's 36-hole semifinals of the National Public Links tournament at Francis Gross course with a wildly cheering Adams Army behind him.

Adams is a rawboned 6-foot-7, talks a blue streak and peers out from big glasses.

He would be conspicuous anywhere, even if he didn't wear brown plaid Bermuda shorts and a white tee-shirt.

He has only nine clubs — all battered, including a wedge that is as smooth as a tablespoon. The talkative Adams insists he hasn't the money to know where his next hamburger is coming from and he buys one golf ball at a time. He plays with it—whether it is cut or not—until it is lost.

Even a caveman would be able to swing a club better than Adams. He cocks his legs better than he does his wrists, and he lets go like a discus thrower. His follow-through brings the club twirling over his head. But the ball drills out there 280 yards.

On the greens, Adams, at times creeps up on the ball, his putter wagging and taps the ball without taking a stance. And it goes in.

In Thursday's quarter-finals, Adams defeated defending champion Bob Lunn of San Francisco 1 up.

"If I never saw it I wouldn't believe it," said Lunn.

"I didn't even know Lunn was last year's winner, said Adams.

"I just go out to play. As for pressure I don't know what that is. The only time I may have it is thinking if my clubs will stay together until I finish this tournament — which is the first major one I've ever been in."

In the semifinals Adams will face Bill McDonald, a music major at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan., where his father is baseball coach. The other match sends 20-year-old Norwegian born Arne Dokka of Sherman Oaks, Calif., against Dean Wilson, 31, an Omaha Postal clerk.

Edwards Leading Owners In Races Won This Year

James F. Edwards, owner of three race tracks, is leading the nation's horse owners in the number of races won this year but not one of his victories have been won at any of his own tracks which include Fairmount Park in Illinois, Wheeling Downs and Waterford Park in West Virginia.

Edwards has made it a steadfast policy never to race his famed Audley Farm horses at his own tracks, believing that eyebrows might be raised if he were too successful. But he has been setting records elsewhere.

Audley Farm horses have taken down first money in 141 races as of July 4. The nearest rival is Marion VanBerg, perennially one of the nation's leading owner - trainers. Last year VanBerg led the owners in America with 201 winners and Audley Farms was second with 155.

During the first five racing days of this month, eleven Audley Farm Horses won at six different tracks — Suffolk Downs, Cahokia Downs, Ak-Sar-Ben, Woodbine, Monmouth Park and Aqueduct. On May 20, Edwards' horses won eight races at six different tracks, establishing an all time record for the number of wins by any one stable in a single day.

At the present rate, Audley Farm appears to be invincible and stands a good chance of breaking the world record for number of winners in any one year, held by VanBerg and established in 1960 when 221 of his colorbearers entered the winners' circle.

Edwards has approximately 150 horses in training at all times and uses Audley Farm, at Berryville, Va., as his focal point. Every trainer has strict orders to ship back to the farm any horse or horses that may go sore or lame and they would be immediately replaced with horses that have been freshened up at the farm.

Edwards, himself, follows the movements of every one of his horses and trainers and is always on the alert for new stock. Hardly a day passes that Audley Farm doesn't claim one or more horses to add to their already large strings and to replace the many that are being claimed from them. Edwards also breeds many horses each year and is always ready to buy, sell or trade horses with anyone.

A busy man?, yes, he also supervises the operations of his 13 mattress factories throughout the United States.

Foul Claim Decides 1st In Sea Trial

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Constellation beat Nefertiti by two seconds over a 24-mile course Thursday in the observation trials for America's Cup defense candidates on Rhode Island Sound.

Officially, however, Nefertiti was declared the winner after Constellation fouled the committee boat crossing the starting line. Constellation continued sailing the course in accordance with instructions from the race committee.

The Airdale Terrier has nine points towards its championship, which Bosco plans to finish this summer. Reck En Nad also won first place at Meadville and Erie in the open bitch class.

Bosco plans to show his dog at Sandusky and Marion later this month.

The friction match was invented by John Walker of England about 1827.

Campbell Blazes To New World Auto Speed Record

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Speed demon Donald Campbell once said he would quit racing if he holds both the world auto and sea speed records.

Now that he has them both as the result of his 403.1 mile per hour auto record set Friday, the 43-year-old Briton apparently intends to keep racing.

His target is the speed of 407.45 m.p.h. set last Aug. 5 by American Craig Breedlove in a three-ton, three-wheeled jet-powered car on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. This is not an official auto record because of the jet power.

Campbell zoomed his 30-foot, 4,250 horsepower Bluebird to 403.1 m.p.h. twice in two runs over the dry salt bed of Lake Eyre in Southern Australia.

The speed eclipsed the record of 394.196 m.p.h. set by the late John Cobb on the Bonneville Salt Flats on Sept. 16, 1947 in a 2,860 horse - power Railton Special.

Campbell said the condition of the track would determine when he would make another attempt in his $4 million car.

Campbell set his sea record of 260.35 m.p.h. in 1959 with a jet-powered hydroplane.

Racing came naturally to Campbell. His father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, established many land and sea records.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: If Mrs. Housewife will place a pencil and piece of paper by her plate at the breakfast table and write down the chores of the day that come to her mind, she can save herself hours each day.

I used to think of the dozens of things I had to do, and started off harem - scarem as soon as my husband was off to work and the children off to school.

Now, I take just a few minutes to put everything I have written down in a convenient order, according to its importance.

This plan saves me hundreds of steps and immeasurable time standing around wondering what should be done next.

Try it! You'd be surprised. Don't let your chores boss you around . . . you boss them, and they will fall right into line like soldiers!

MRS. W. I.

DEAR HELOISE: I was given a lovely calendar towel for 1960 and I didn't want to use it for dishes so I am saving it as a keepsake for my granddaughter who was born that year.

I just gave a lovely linen one (1964) to a young friend whose baby was born this year, and I suggested that she save it for her daughter.

Some people search for calendar plates of their birth year, so why not have a calendar towel?

MRS. VERNON WILSON, Sr.

DEAR FOLKS: Let me give you a tip, and don't laugh until you try it.

Hairs are extremely hard to pull out of a hair brush. We break many combs trying to remove them. . .

Nylon net can be bought at most fabric and department stores for less than 40 cents a yard. Buy 6 inches of this! This will cost you less than 7 cents! Besides, you will have some left over. . . .

Take the six-inch width of nylon net and cut off a piece three times the length of your hair brush. Fold the net from the handle over the brush part and back to the handle again, taking the little extra swatch left and wrapping it around the handle a few times.

Then brush your hair!

The nylon net will sink down into the hair brush but . . . the loose hairs will never get down into the bottom of the brush again, and your hair will stay cleaner between shampoos.

After brushing your hair with this, untwist the net, hold it over the waste basket and drop the hairs into that old waste basket.

Give it a whirl, friends. I'm positive that you will love it and never use a hair brush again without first covering the bristles with nylon net.

HELOISE.

P.S.: A length cut from the leg of a thin nylon ladies stocking works, too. Just pull "tube" over hair brush bristles.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever start to hook your dress in a hurry, and find that the eye was gone?

If you don't have time to sew on another eye, pin a medium-sized safety pin underneath the garment, and then hook through the bar made on top by the safety pin!

JUSTA HOWE SWIFE.
RUSHA LONG STREET.
ANYWHERE, U.S.A.

-:-

This method also works on boys' slacks which have the large type hook. After being laundered, the flat part of the fastener on my son's slacks was missing so I used a large safety pin . . . just as Justa says!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I put all my purse paraphernalia in a plastic bag (how did we ever live without them?) and drop the bag into my purse.

When I need something in a hurry, I simply lift the bag with its contents out of my purse. Since it is easy to see through, I can immediately locate whatever I'm looking for.

The same applies when I change purses . . . simply lift out the bag and plop it and its contents into the other purse.

The thing which delights me the most is that it leaves the inside of my handbag immaculate.

SHIRLEY.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Age Difference Figures In Problem

Two girls who lived in the same block were almost constant playmates and companions. There was only a year of difference in their ages. But when the older girl entered junior high, she wholly dropped the other girl. At that age, a difference of a year made these girls far more different in their interests than this difference had ever made earlier. The promotion from the grades to junior high may carry with it great social significance.

Dr. Garry Myers

Often a mother hears from a younger child, "Make her (or him) play with me." Many mothers write me about the older child who doesn't want to play with a younger brother or sister. Often parents will try to force the older child to play more with the younger sibling. Writes a mother from Ohio:

—:—

"CAN YOU OFFER some advice on a problem I have concerning our two daughters—10 and 6? It seems more and more common that the 10-year-old doesn't want the 6-year-old to play with her. I realize there are times when she should be with her friends, but the problem arises so often I decided to ask your advice on how to cope with it. Another reason it is hard is that the neighborhood we live in has no playmates for the 6-year-old and also no one of her age to walk to school with."

In answering this mother, I tried to help her see how wide the difference in ages between these girls is and, therefore, how unlike their interests and skills must be. Of course, the problem of the younger girl is increased by there not being other girls of her age in the immediate neighborhood.

In such a hard case the older sister might be led to see how much her younger sister needs someone to play with her, and to play more often with this sister as a matter of kindness to her.

BUT THE PROBLEM remain for the mother to help the younger girl find one or more girl playmates farther away from home. This mother may need to cultivate friendships with families having such girls, going with her daughter to their homes and attracting some girls from these families to her home. It may take a lot of time and effort, even some added expense. Yet the need is so great as to warrant such.

A good starter might be for this 6-year-old girl to bring home after school one or more of her schoolmates; with their parents' knowledge and approval, of course.

Even if these girls, now 10 and 6, were twins instead, each would also need to spend considerable time to play with contemporaries not of their own family.

My bulletin, "Your Child and His Playmates," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

If you want to freshen those baked tart shells, put them in a hot (425 degrees) oven for about five minutes; cool and fill.

Wellsville Play's Dress Rehearsal Due Wednesday

Dress rehearsal for the play, 'The Tender Trap," will be held Wednesday night at the Liberty Theater in Wellsville, where the production will be staged next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Mrs. Sondra Michels is directing the play for the newly - formed group of thespians, called "The Off - Broadway Players."

Curtain time will be at 8:30 nightly.

Two changes have been made in the cast. R. V. Smith will play the leading role and Miss Julie Hall, a supporting role.

Other members of the cast are Joe Rogers, Howard Guildoo, Steve McCarty, Mrs. Barbara Buchanon and Miss Ginger Katzenmeyer.

James Goodwin is business manager; Smith, stage manager; Miss Nila Jo Bailey, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Mary Lou Cunningham, wardrobe mistress.

Mrs. Elizabeth McNicol, ticket chairman, said tickets may be purchased at Gus's Party Center, the Sportsmen's Barber Shop and People's Finance Co. at Chester. They also will be sold at the door.

Aircraft Plant Slated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bede Aviation Corp. of Springfield, Ohio, soon will make a commitment for a site here for a plant that will produce 200 small, low-priced aircraft monthly, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said today it had learned from a company spokesman. The plane, known as the Bede BD-1, is an all-metal, two-seat aircraft with folding wings and weighs only 1,375 pounds.

County Notes Boosts For Sales, Use Taxes

Collections of sales and use taxes on motor vehicles and house trailers showed a gain, while a decrease was reflected in sales tax collections in the first two weeks of the new fiscal year, State Treasurer John T. Herbert said at Columbus.

Herbert said collections on motor vehicles and house trailers totaled $25,435 to start fiscal 1965, compared to $18,293 in the same 1964 period.

However, sales tax collections reached only $33,288, a drop from the $38,481 registered in the first two weeks of fiscal 1964, he reported.

French Highlights Program Of Peace Corps' Trainees

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Bridge and Scrabble in French . . . French at lunch and dinner. . . French at nearly every opportunity.

That's how it goes for 135 students at the second annual program for Peace Corps trainees at Oberlin College. They are undergoing a nine-week indoctrination before leaving for Quebec to live with French families for four weeks.

The students include beginners, intermediates and advanced linguists. For those who pass the selection board, assignments are waiting in Gabon, the Ivory Coast and Togo — countries in French - speaking West and Equatorial Africa.

The trainees get four hours of classroom instruction in French daily. The men also must run a mile each day.

Robert Roza, a young native of Paris who is one of the instructors, said French at breakfast isn't necessarily encouraged.

"That's too early in the morning for most of us—even me," he said.

Roza recently was appointed assistant professor of French at Indiana University.

Oberlin Prof. Paul B. Arnold, project director, heads an administrative and teaching staff of 56.

About three-fourths of the successful trainees will teach English in the host countries.

The group includes a former car hop, a radio and dramatic producer, a governess, a housewrecker and a model.

The program started here June 18 and will end Aug. 21. After a 10-day break, the training will resume at Laval University in Quebec — the first Peace Corps training outside the United States.

At Laval, the students will be assigned to live with French families, a new feature of the program. Their permanent assignments come four weeks later. Forty of 56 who reported to Oberlin in 1963 are now Peace Corps members.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: If Mrs. Housewife will place a pencil and piece of paper by her plate at the breakfast table and write down the chores of the day that come to her mind, she can save herself hours each day.

I used to think of the dozens of things I had to do, and started off harem - scarem as soon as my husband was off to work and the children off to school.

Now, I take just a few minutes to put everything I have written down in a convenient order, according to its importance.

This plan saves me hundreds of steps and immeasurable time standing around wondering what should be done next.

Try it! You'd be surprised. Don't let your chores boss you around . . . you boss them, and they will fall right into line like soldiers!

MRS. W. I.

DEAR HELOISE: I was given a lovely calendar towel for 1960 and I didn't want to use it for dishes so I am saving it as a keepsake for my granddaughter who was born that year.

I just gave a lovely linen one (1964) to a young friend whose baby was born this year, and I suggested that she save it for her daughter.

Some people search for calendar plates of their birth year, so why not have a calendar towel?

MRS. VERNON WILSON, Sr.

DEAR FOLKS: Let me give you a tip, and don't laugh until you try it.

Hairs are extremely hard to pull out of a hair brush. We break many combs trying to remove them. . .

Nylon net can be bought at most fabric and department stores for less than 40 cents a yard. Buy 6 inches of this! This will cost you less than 7 cents! Besides, you will have some left over. . . .

Take the six-inch width of nylon net and cut off a piece three times the length of your hair brush. Fold the net from the handle over the brush part and back to the handle again, taking the little extra swatch left and wrapping it around the handle a few times.

Then brush your hair!

The nylon net will sink down into the hair brush but . . . the loose hairs will never get down into the bottom of the brush again, and your hair will stay cleaner between shampoos.

After brushing your hair with this, untwist the net, hold it over the waste basket and drop the hairs into that old waste basket.

Give it a whirl, friends. I'm positive that you will love it and never use a hair brush again without first covering the bristles with nylon net.

HELOISE.

P.S.: A length cut from the leg of a thin nylon ladies stocking works, too. Just pull "tube" over hair brush bristles.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever start to hook your dress in a hurry, and find tnat the eye was gone?

If you don't have time to sew on another eye, pin a medium-sized safety pin underneath the garment, and then hook through the bar made on top by the safety pin!

JUSTA HOWE SWIFE.
RUSHA LONG STREET.
ANYWHERE, U.S.A.

-:-

This method also works on boys' slacks which have the large type hook. After being laundered, the flat part of the fastener on my son's slacks was missing so I used a large safety pin . . . just as Justa says!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I put all my purse paraphernalia in a plastic bag (how did we ever live without them?) and drop the bag into my purse.

When I need something in a hurry, I simply lift the bag with its contents out of my purse. Since it is easy to see through, I can immediately locate whatever I'm looking for.

The same applies when I change purses . . . simply lift out the bag and plop it and its contents into the other purse.

The thing which delights me the most is that it leaves the inside of my handbag immaculate.

SHIRLEY.

Aircraft Plant Slated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bede Aviation Corp. of Springfield, Ohio, soon will make a commitment for a site here for a plant that will produce 200 small, low-priced aircraft monthly, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said today it had learned from a company spokesman. The plane, known as the Bede BD-1, is an all-metal, two-seat aircraft with folding wings and weighs only 1,375 pounds.

French Highlights Program Of Peace Corps' Trainees

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Bridge and Scrabble in French . . . French at lunch and dinner. . . French at nearly every opportunity.

That's how it goes for 135 students at the second annual program for Peace Corps trainees at Oberlin College. They are undergoing a nine-week indoctrination before leaving for Quebec to live with French families for four weeks.

The students include beginners, intermediates and advanced linguists. For those who pass the selection board, assignments are waiting in Gabon, the Ivory Coast and Togo — countries in French - speaking West and Equatorial Africa.

The trainees get four hours of classroom instruction in French daily. The men also must run a mile each day.

Robert Roza, a young native of Paris who is one of the instructors, said French at breakfast isn't necessarily encouraged.

"That's too early in the morning for most of us—even me," he said.

Roza recently was appointed assistant professor of French at Indiana University.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Age Difference Figures In Problem

Two girls who lived in the same block were almost constant playmates and companions. There was only a year of difference in their ages. But when the older girl entered junior high, she wholly dropped the other girl. At that age, a difference of a year made these girls far more different in their interests than this difference had ever made earlier. The promotion from the grades to junior high may carry with it great social significance.

Dr. Garry Myers

Often a mother hears from a younger child, "Make her (or him) play with me." Many mothers write me about the older child who doesn't want to play with a younger brother or sister. Often parents will try to force the older child to play more with the younger sibling. Writes a mother from Ohio:

—:—

"CAN YOU OFFER some advice on a problem I have concerning our two daughters—10 and 6? It seems more and more common that the 10-year-old doesn't want the 6-year-old to play with her. I realize there are times when she should be with her friends, but the problem arises so often I decided to ask your advice on how to cope with it. Another reason it is hard is that the neighborhood we live in has no playmates for the 6-year-old and also no one of her age to walk to school with."

In answering this mother, I tried to help her see how wide the difference in ages between these girls is and, therefore, how unlike their interests and skills must be. Of course, the problem of the younger girl is increased by there not being other girls of her age in the immediate neighborhood.

In such a hard case the older sister might be led to see how much her younger sister needs someone to play with her, and to play more often with this sister as a matter of kindness to her.

BUT THE PROBLEM remain for the mother to help the younger girl find one or more girl playmates farther away from home. This mother may need to cultivate friendships with families having such girls, going with her daughter to their homes and attracting some girls from these families to her home. It may take a lot of time and effort, even some added expense. Yet the need is so great as to warrant such.

A good starter might be for this 6-year-old girl to bring home after school one or more of her schoolmates; with their parents' knowledge and approval, of course.

Even if these girls, now 10 and 6, were twins instead, each would also need to spend considerable time to play with contemporaries not of their own family.

My bulletin, "Your Child and His Playmates," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

If you want to freshen those baked tart shells, put them in a hot (425 degrees) oven for about five minutes; cool and fill.

County Notes Boosts For Sales, Use Taxes

Collections of sales and use taxes on motor vehicles and house trailers showed again, while a decrease was reflected in sales tax collections in the first two weeks of the new fiscal year, State Treasurer John T. Herbert said at Columbus.

Herbert said collections on motor vehicles and house trailers totaled $25,435 to start fiscal 1965, compared to $18,293 in the same 1964 period.

However, sales tax collections reached only $33,288, a drop from the $38,481 registered in the first two weeks of fiscal 1964, he reported.

Illegitmate Daughter Reveals 20-Year Secret

By DAVE SMITH

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaesing, 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton .

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said. "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaesing living in this suburban community.

Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaesing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaesing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator, was 53, married, childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willits. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willits. "I had no children, and that way we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

Mrs. Blaesing recalls:

"My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaesing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

She continued:

"I do recall that when she (her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaesing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaesings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaesing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaesing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't know.

Scouts Open Jamboree At Valley Forge

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The Boy Scout is a swapper.

He'll give almost anything to get almost anything. And some stuff he sells for a profit.

Like the deer hides 15-year-old Skipper Netherly of Junction, Tex., brought along, plus a number of Mexican knives.

"I want $10 for the hides," he said, "and I'll take $5 for the knives." He hoped to have takers near the end of the week-long sixth national jamboree that started officially today on the green hills and valleys of historic Valley Forge.

It began when an aerial bomb exploded high in the sky to signal the raising of 1,800 flags as the 52,000 participating scouts and leaders stood at attention.

Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief of the nation's 5½ million scouts, looked over the city of 30,000 tents and said, "This represents what's good about America."

The trading tents were jammed with hundreds of boys from every state in the nation, and from many of the 44 foreign countries. They sat cross-legged on the grass floor or crowded around wooden tables.

They had cigar boxes, shoe boxes, paper bags, stuffed with neckerchiefs, shoulder patches, lapel patches, stuffed turtles, rattlesnake rattlers, oyster shells, rocks and metal rings.

The scouts have been rolling in here since Tuesday. With them came 60 carloads of baggage.

Everything reached its destination, a spokesman said, except one pair of tweezers.

Injuries Prove Fatal

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Injuries from a collision between two pickup trucks June 26 at an intersection in Bay Twp. have resulted in the death of Edward J. Bebow, a 76-year-old contractor. He died in a Toledo hospital Thursday.

Merinos is the most common breed of sheep.

Hit, Killed By Car

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Douglas Ginter, 15, of Lodi was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile Thursday and killed. The accident occurred on a county road a half-mile southwest of nearby Lodi.

The Highway Patrol said Joseph Perko, 67, of West Salem, driver of the car which struck the bicycle from behind, was charged with traffic manslaughter.

Peggy Says She'll Travel Campaign Trail With Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mrs. Barry Goldwater says she'll travel the campaign trail with her husband but she won't talk politics in public.

"It's not that I don't like public life," Peggy Goldwater said Thursday at her first news conference since Goldwater was nominated by the Republicans for president.

"I'm not quite used to appearing before the news media. Maybe I'll get used to it sometime."

Mrs. Goldwater, 55, stood on a yellow box to look out over the rostrum at a crowd of about 150 in the ballroom of Goldwater's headquarters hotel.

Asked if she would rather be in politics or stay quietly at home, she said "no comment" so softly it could scarcely be heard.

Mrs. Goldwater, who stands 5-feet-3, has blue eyes and brown hair swept back from a widow's peak and streaked with blonde.

She thinks the most important job of a nominee's wife is "to be able to meet people and just be sort of natural, I guess."

The hardest part is: "THIS."

DeMolay's Ball Team Sets Practice Sunday

The softball team will practice Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Glenmoor school, it was announced Thursday night when Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, met in the Masonic Temple.

The rifle team will meet Saturday, July 25, at 9 a. m. at the range. Members needing transportation will meet at the temple at 8:30.

Ed Birch, master councilor, presided in the East. David Hofman, treasurer, called the roll of officers and also presented his report. Rick Fisher, chaplain, gave the interpolation prayer.

Auto In Lisbon Chase Tied To Dennison Boy

LISBON — Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie of the village police department has identified a 17-year-old Dennison boy as the driver of a stolen car that was abandoned on Green's Hill southeast of the village on Route 30 early July 3 after a chase with a Lisbon police cruiser.

Lisbon officers said they will close their books on the affair, as the youth is scheduled for prosecution in Tuscarawas County Juvenile Court. Sgt. McKenzie said the boy has a record of five other auto thefts and has served time in the Boys' Industrial School for the offense.

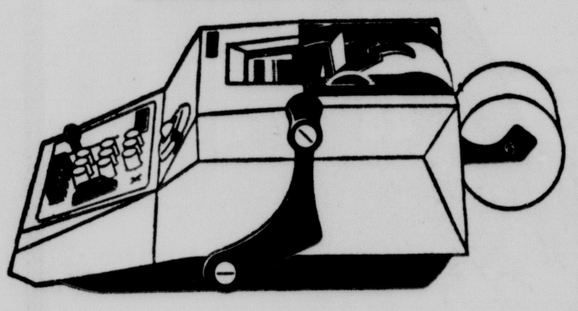

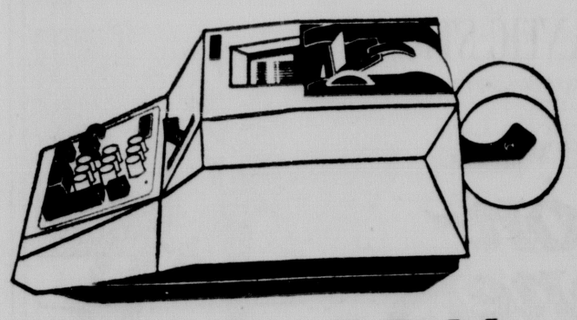

The auto abandoned here was stolen the night of July 2 from a hospital parking lot at Dennison. Sgt. McKenzie pursued the auto after attempting to halt it for a check. The youth fled on foot after ditching the auto.

SUNTAN SAFETY
Q. Is there a way to tan safely?
A. Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest way to get a tan. For the average person the first exposure should be 10 to 15 minutes—less for easy-to-burn skin. This can be increased a few minutes each day. The tanning process can be given a boost by certain drugs which, however, should not be taken without medical supervision. So, see your doctor if you have special "sun" problems.
BODY TEMPERATURE
Q. Does body temperature stay the same during summer and winter?
A. Yes. Body temperature is kept at normal levels, regardless of the weather, by a built-in heat regulator or body thermostat. There is, however, one exception — the Australian aborigine. These naked, little people live in an area in which the air temperature drops from 90 degrees during the day to just above freezing at night. Strange as it may seem, the body temperature of these primitive people falls as much as 4 degrees at night. Their skin temperature often drops as low as 13 degree below normal. Such changes in body and skin temperature are not known to occur among other races.

By DAVE SMITH

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaesing, 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton .

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said. "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaesing living in this suburban community.

Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaesing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaesing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator, was 53, married, childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willits. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willits. "I had no children, and that way we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

Mrs. Blaesing recalls:

"My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaesing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

She continued:

"I do recall that when she (her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaesing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaesings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaesing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaesing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't know.

Mrs. Thelma Hill was elected Wednesday night as president of the Past Councilors of the Lisbon Daughters of America Council.

The election at the D. of A. Hall followed a dinner meeting for 18 at Meade's Restaurant at Wellsville.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Helen Harrison, vice president; Mrs. Florence Stacey, secretary; Mrs. Florence Babb, treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Williams, relief committee; Mrs. Ollie Carnes, dinner committee, and Mrs. Bessie Cullsion, reporter.

Prizes for games and cards in the social hour were awarded to Mrs. Olive Ogle, Mrs. Sarah Holshue, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Hill.

Those who attended the dinner party were Mrs. Gertrude McCord, Mrs. Mary Hoy, Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. Cullison, Mrs. Stacey, Mrs. Mary Chillik, Mrs. Babb, Mrs. Holshue, Mrs. Margaret Brunner, Mrs. Carnes, Mrs. Lela Stock, Mrs. Nannie Meehan, Mrs. Sadie Rose, Mrs. Ogle, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Lydia Bennett.

At the next meeting, Wednesday, July 29, hostesses will be Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Stacey and Mrs. Harrison.

Lisbon Social Club members dined at Barber's Restaurant in Boardman Wednesday evening after a game of miniature golf.

Birthday gifts and cards were presented to Mrs. Ross Hott. Souvenirs of the New York World's Fair were presented to each member by Mrs. Harvey Cusick, who recently returned from a trip there.

The club will meet July 29 at the home of Mrs. Russell Reynolds of Caldwell Ave.

Peggy Says She'll Travel Campaign Trail With Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mrs. Barry Goldwater says she'll travel the campaign trail with her husband but she won't talk politics in public.

"It's not that I don't like public life," Peggy Goldwater said Thursday at her first news conference since Goldwater was nominated by the Republicans for president.

"I'm not quite used to appearing before the news media. Maybe I'll get used to it sometime."

Mrs. Goldwater, 55, stood on a yellow box to look out over the rostrum at a crowd of about 150 in the ballroom of Goldwater's headquarters hotel.

Asked if she would rather be in politics or stay quietly at home, she said "no comment" so softly it could scarcely be heard.

Mrs. Goldwater, who stands 5-feet-3, has blue eyes and brown hair swept back from a widow's peak and streaked with blonde.

She thinks the most important job of a nominee's wife is "to be able to meet people and just be sort of natural, I guess."

The hardest part is: "THIS."

DeMolay's Ball Team Sets Practice Sunday

Ed Birch, master councilor, presided in the East. David Hofman, treasurer, called the roll of officers and also presented his report. Rick Fisher, chaplain, gave the interpolation prayer.

Auto In Lisbon Chase Tied To Dennison Boy

LISBON — Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie of the village police department has identified a 17-year-old Dennison boy as the driver of a stolen car that was abandoned on Green's Hill southeast of the village on Route 30 early July 3 after a chase with a Lisbon police cruiser.

Lisbon officers said they will close their books on the affair, as the youth is scheduled for prosecution in Tuscarawas County Juvenile Court. Sgt. McKenzie said the boy has a record of five other auto thefts and has served time in the Boys' Industrial School for the offense.

The auto abandoned here was stolen the night of July 2 from a hospital parking lot at Dennison. Sgt. McKenzie pursued the auto after attempting to halt it for a check. The youth fled on foot after ditching the auto.

Scouts Open Jamboree At Valley Forge

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The Boy Scout is a swapper.

He'll give almost anything to get almost anything. And some stuff he sells for a profit.

Like the deer hides 15-year-old Skipper Netherly of Junction, Tex., brought along, plus a number of Mexican knives.

"I want $10 for the hides," he said, "and I'll take $5 for the knives." He hoped to have takers near the end of the week-long sixth national jamboree that started officially today on the green hills and valleys of historic Valley Forge.

It began when an aerial bomb exploded high in the sky to signal the raising of 1,800 flags as the 52,000 participating scouts and leaders stood at attention.

Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief of the nation's 5½ million scouts, looked over the city of 30,000 tents and said, "This represents what's good about America."

The trading tents were jammed with hundreds of boys from every state in the nation, and from many of the 44 foreign countries. They sat cross-legged on the grass floor or crowded around wooden tables.

They had cigar boxes, shoe boxes, paper bags, stuffed with neckerchiefs, shoulder patches, lapel patches, stuffed turtles, rattlesnake rattlers, oyster shells, rocks and metal rings.

The scouts have been rolling in here since Tuesday. With them came 60 carloads of baggage.

Everything reached its destination, a spokesman said, except one pair of tweezers.

Injuries Prove Fatal

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Injuries from a collision between two pickup trucks June 26 at an intersection in Bay Twp. have resulted in the death of Edward J. Bebow, a 76-year-old contractor. He died in a Toledo hospital Thursday.

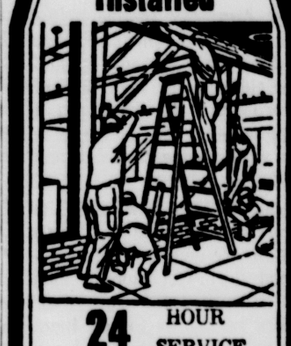

Merinos is the most common breed of sheep.

Hit, Killed By Car

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Douglas Ginter, 15, of Lodi was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile Thursday and killed. The accident occurred on a county road a half-mile southwest of nearby Lodi.

The Highway Patrol said Joseph Perko, 67, of West Salem, driver of the car which struck the bicycle from behind, was charged with traffic manslaughter.

SUNTAN SAFETY
Q. Is there a way to tan safely?
A. Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest way to get a tan. For the average person the first exposure should be 10 to 15 minutes—less for easy-to-burn skin. This can be increased a few minutes each day. The tanning process can be given a boost by certain drugs which, however, should not be taken without medical supervision. So, see your doctor if you have special "sun" problems.
BODY TEMPERATURE
Q. Does body temperature stay the same during summer and winter?
A. Yes. Body temperature is kept at normal levels, regardless of the weather, by a built-in heat regulator or body thermostat. There is, however, one exception — the Australian aborigine. These naked, little people live in an area in which the air temperature drops from 90 degrees during the day to just above freezing at night. Strange as it may seem, the body temperature of these primitive people falls as much as 4 degrees at night. Their skin temperature often drops as low as 13 degrees below normal. Such changes in body and skin temperature are not known to occur among other races.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the woman who signed her letter "Exaggerated Grief?". She was criticizing a friend who fell apart at the funeral service of her husband. The writer hinted that the widow might be a candidate for an Academy Award, since her husband had been ill for a long time and his death came as no surprise.

Your answer seemed to support the mourner. You said, "The death of a loved one—expected or not—can be a traumatic experience." Candidly, Ann, I was surprised at the answer.

Highly civilized, cultured, well-educated individuals are in control of themselves at all times. The more primitive the people, the noisier the funeral.

I believe in the therapeutic value of tears. But the shedding of tears should be private. Public exhibition of grief is a sign of ignorance and weakness.—FROM IOWA.

-:-

Dear Iowa: How wonderful if all of us could be in perfect control of our emotions at all times. Humans—since we are human—cannot always achieve this level of perfection. Even machines have been known to break down occasionally.

The notion that only the weak and ignorant shed tears in public indicates such a lack of compassion that I would not dignify the observation by commenting further.

Confirmed Democrat

Dear Ann: I know you are against mixed marriages. I wish you would also come out against marriages between people of different political parties. I think it would help reduce the staggering divorce rate in this country.

I married a Republican. He tells me I would vote for a ring-tailed monkey if he ran on the Democratic ticket. My husband insists that although he is a registered Republican he votes for the man and not the party.

Something is wrong with this approach to politics but I can't put it into words. Can you?—POLLS APART.

Dear Polls: Many strong party members believe if the party is to be preserved they must support the party, no matter who the candidate. This old-fashioned, machine-type approach is losing out, and it's a good thing.

The voter who refuses to support his party's poor candidate is a healthy influence on BOTH parties.

The notion that any second-rater can be crammed down the voter's throat as long as he is on the "right" ticket should be knocked in the head.

Business Ethics

Dear Ann: My mother-in-law minds her own business, my kids don't give me any lip and the neighbors keep their dog off our property. So what am I writing about? My problem deals with business ethics and I need your advice.

In our state a law prohibits the sale of cigarettes to anyone under 18. We own a small neighborhood store. Occasionally kids come in with notes from their mothers asking us to sell them cigarettes. I tell them I'm sorry but I can't do it.

This makes the mothers mad and I have lost some good customers because of it. They then send the children to the chain store on the corner where they can get what they want.

My wife says I should stop being a simpleton. What do you say?—ARGUE ARGUE ARGUE.

-:-

Dear Argue: It's unfair of people to ask you to break the law and then take their business elsewhere because you refuse.

The next time a mother sends her child in for cigarettes, phone her and read her this column. Maybe she'll be mad at both of us, but it's worth the try.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Impersonation Of Prisoner New Police Headache

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—If there is a law against impersonating a prisoner, that's the one police here will be able to file against Cletis Howland of South Shore, Ky.

Police said Howland, 47, and Walter McKenzie, 21, of South Portsmouth, Ky., were placed in Scioto County jail when they were unable to pay Municipal Court fines for intoxication.

However, a relative of McKenzie paid that man's fine and asked an officer to take McKenzie to the Grant Bridge of the Ohio River.

When officers went to the cell and asked for McKenzie, Howland quickly answered the call, was taken to the bridge and was last seen hurrying toward the Kentucky side.

McKenzie finally was released when the relative returned to the jail and the impersonation was discovered.

Mother Of 3 Pleads Innocent To Forgery

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Willowick mother of three children pleaded innocent Thursday of forging checks from the Sunny Lane School for Retarded Children where she was treasurer.

Mrs. Dorothy Kramer, 39, was freed on $3,000 bond and Prosecutor Fred V. Skok said he would ask for her trial in September. Skok's assistant, Barry Byron, said $12,000 of school funds are missing.

3 New Projects Probe Cigarette Smoke Affect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service has announced three new research projects into how cigarette smoke affects living tissue.

The studies involve areas in which the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health indicated more information was needed. The committee said in a report last January that cigarette smoking was harmful to health.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said Thursday that the National Cancer Institute had awarded more than $300,000 to support these studies:

A $107,535 contract to New York University Medical Center to isolate and identify chemicals in tobacco extracts and smoke that may act as indirect cancer agents.

A $103,575 contract to Food and Drug Research Laboratories, New York, to investigate changes taking place in the windpipes of laboratory animals exposed to cigarette smoke.

A $104,446 contract to Hazleton Laboratories, Falls Church, Va., to help evaluate the relation of tobacco smoke, nickel dust and ozonized hydrocarbons to lung cancer in animals.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Space Agency says it is looking into two projects to assist astronauts on the moon: A mobile laboratory and a "lunar hopper" for short flights.

These are among 32 projects being studied for possible use after Apollo spacecraft land the first astronauts on the moon.

Parallel studies of the mobile moon laboratory, or Molab, have been ordered from the Boeing Co., Seattle, and the Bendix Corp., Ann Arbor, Mich., under contracts of $800,000 each.

The Molab would permit the men to work in shirtsleeves and would have an air-locked exit so moon explorers could go out in space suits and gather soil and rock samples. It would be landed on the moon by a modified version of the lunar excursion module, or Lem, a section of the Apollo which will be used to carry two astronauts from the mother ship to the moon surface.

Bell Aerosystems Co., Buffalo, N.Y., has a $199,333 contract to study the lunar hopper. In addition to short flights on the moon it could be used as an emergency vehicle to get back to the Lem if the Molab malfunctions.

GOP Convention Costly For Tennessee Delegate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For Tennessee delegate Guilford Dudley, the Republican National Convention came at a high cost. Dudley told police that burglars took $16,000 worth of jewelry from his motel room. Said Dudley: "San Francisco is an expensive town to stay in."

San Francisco Chronicle columnist Herb Caen says that Chester G. Arthur, grandson of the 21st president of the United States, was kicked out of the Cow Palace by guards who believed his ticket was counterfeit. "You can't do this to me," Arthur said. But the guards did.

Now that the Republican convention is over, Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, the Democrat who welcomed the delegates at the beginning of the week, no longer feels so hospitable. Addressing some leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Shelley said that as he watched the convention on television he thought he was "witnessing things I had read from Mein Kampf."

A press aide for Sen. Barry Goldwater says the senator's campaign committee raised more than $1 million in individual contributions since Jan. 1.

Fred Mullen, the aide, said several of the contributions were in excess of $1,000, but for the most part they were small donations from some 300,000 individuals averaging about $3 each.

Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to be back in his Washington office by Monday morning.

He probably will leave San Francisco Saturday for Phoenix and a short rest.

Before accepting the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater spent two hours at the controls of a rented two-engine plane flying over California, including one pass over the Cow Palace.

His press secretary, Ed Nellor, said Thursday's jaunt was the third this week for the senator, who rented the plane at the San Mateo County Airport.

American Auctioneers Take Busman Holiday

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Auctioneers from all over the United States took a busman's holiday Thursday night.

They gathered, some 500 strong, to listen to each other hawk their wares in the rapid-fire, sing - song chant which sounds a little like a 33 rpm playing record on 78 speed.

The buyers and sellers are members of the National Auctioneers Association and their families meeting here July 15-18. Their machine gun patter, punctuated with the "yup" which indicates a new and higher bid, filled the convention hall for 2½ hours. They sold everything from Hawaiian bracelets to tomato sauce to floodlights.

The youngest auctioneer was 7-year-old Johnny Kiko of Canton, Ohio, who had to be hoisted atop a table to reach the microphone. His patter was a little slow, and he said he was scared, but sold a stuffed dog for $6.

Johnny's 10-year-old brother, Rusty, also auctioned some merchandise under the watchful eye of his father, Russell, who is a professional with two other sons in the business.

Among other youthful participants was Lee McCarver, 15, of Sevierville, Tenn., who has been on the auctioneer's platform "ever since I was old enough to holler."

Lee talked up the price on a Tennessee ham until his face turned scarlet, then paused to warn, "I want to remind you folks the only way to get one of these hams is to go to my dad's auction house—where he gives them away—or to buy it here."

Pages At GOP Convention 'Had A Ball,' One Observes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The young Republicans who served as pages at the Republican national convention were the saddest of the "party people" to see it end Thursday night.

"We've had a ball," said Rush Milam, 15, of Waco, Tex.

"You bet," chimed in John Brown, 17, of Dallas.

These two, along with Carolyn Bennett, 25, of San Antonio, were pages for the Texas delegation. How did they get their jobs?

"You make application to the state committee," said Carolyn. The ones who were picked have folks who: Work hard for the party, keep the car handy, or give money. Things like that.

"This one's had a lot of excitement in it," he said.

"I've been called every name in the book," said one young assistant sergeant-at-arms from Tennessee. "I'm supposed to keep people off the floor. They're all brothers or aunts of big shots."

John Sering of Boston is a young attorney who also was charged with seeing that "unauthorized persons" were not admitted onto the floor.

"The things I do for my party," he groaned after the umpteenth time he had his shins kicked by a pushing, shoving crowd of those with tickets, those without tickets and those who didn't know whether they had tickets or not.

Was it worth it?

"Yes, sir," said the pages.

Goodrich, URW Reach Pact Accord

CINCINNATI (AP)—A fourth major rubber company, B. F. Goodrich Co., has reached agreement with the United Rubber Workers Union on a three-year pension, insurance and hospitalization contract.

In announcing the agreement Thursday night, a union spokesman said it follows a pattern of similar contracts signed this week with Firestone, Goodyear and General Tire.

The Goodrich pact, which the spokesman said would be signed today, affects 11,000 production workers in eight cities, beginning Aug. 1. It is subject to ratification by URW locals at the various plants.

Wages are not up for bargaining until next spring.

The union said the contract includes increases in existing life insurance, hospitalization and surgical benefits, extension of some benefits to cover retired employes and their wives, and higher pension payments.

A new feature allows retirement at age 62 with no reduction in pension payments.

B. F. Goodrich plants are in Akron, Ohio; Clarksville, Tenn.; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Los Angeles; Riverside, N. J.; Miami, Okla.; Oaks, Pa., and Marion, Ohio.

Thief Obtains Purse And $5

For the fourth time this month, a thief sneaked into a woman's home and stole her purse while she was asleep, police reported.

Mrs. Wilma Marshall, 326 E. 9th St., reported to police this morning the purse containing $5, including a silver dollar, was taken from the dining room between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 5:30 a.m. today.

Entrance was gained by raising a window at the rear of the home, police were told.

In addition to the cash, the purse also contained the family bank book, loan book and insurance policy, she said.

Three other women, including two in the East End, reported similar burglaries to officers early this month.

Richard Byers, 315 Norton St., told police his car battery was stolen and the right rear door window was broken while the auto was parked between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the rear of Westgate School.

Data On Project Given To Grange At Yellow Creek

Improvements made to the Grange Hall and proposed work were discussed at a meeting of the Yellow Creek Grange Thursday night.

New double doors have been installed at the front entrance by Wayne Hamilton, master.

The charter was draped in memory of the late Glenn B. Roberts, a member.

Mrs. Betty Mick, lecturer, was in charge of the program. It included a quiz on "What City Is This?" Mrs. Grace DeLauder gave a reading entitled "1872 Office Memo." Mrs. Pearl Duck read a short story and Mrs. Mick read a poem, "For We The Grange Have Builded." A game was played.

Hamilton screened movies of Canada, parades at Wellsville and Highlandtown and of the re-enactment of Morgan's Raid at West Point.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ellen Forbes and Miss Elizabeth Smith.

The next meeting is Aug. 6.

3 New Projects Probe Cigarette Smoke Affect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service has announced three new research projects into how cigarette smoke affects living tissue.

The studies involve areas in which the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health indicated more information was needed. The committee said in a report last January that cigarette smoking was harmful to health.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said Thursday that the National Cancer Institute had awarded more than $300,000 to support these studies:

A $107,535 contract to New York University Medical Center to isolate and identify chemicals in tobacco extracts and smoke that may act as indirect cancer agents.

A $103,575 contract to Food and Drug Research Laboratories, New York, to investigate changes taking place in the windpipes of laboratory animals exposed to cigarette smoke.

A $104,446 contract to Hazleton Laboratories, Falls Church, Va., to help evaluate the relation of tobacco smoke, nickel dust and ozonized hydrocarbons to lung cancer in animals.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Space Agency says it is looking into two projects to assist astronauts on the moon: A mobile laboratory and a "lunar hopper" for short flights.

These are among 32 projects being studied for possible use after Apollo spacecraft land the first astronauts on the moon.

Parallel studies of the mobile moon laboratory, or Molab, have been ordered from the Boeing Co., Seattle, and the Bendix Corp., Ann Arbor, Mich., under contracts of $800,000 each.

The Molab would permit the men to work in shirtsleeves and would have an air-locked exit so moon explorers could go out in space suits and gather soil and rock samples. It would be landed on the moon by a modified version of the lunar excursion module, or Lem, a section of the Apollo which will be used to carry two astronauts from the mother ship to the moon surface.

Bell Aerosystems Co., Buffalo, N.Y., has a $199,333 contract to study the lunar hopper. In addition to short flights on the moon it could be used as an emergency vehicle to get back to the Lem if the Molab malfunctions.

GOP Convention Costly For Tennessee Delegate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For Tennessee delegate Guilford Dudley, the Republican National Convention came at a high cost. Dudley told police that burglars took $16,000 worth of jewelry from his motel room. Said Dudley: "San Francisco is an expensive town to stay in."

San Francisco Chronicle columnist Herb Caen says that Chester G. Arthur, grandson of the 21st president of the United States, was kicked out of the Cow Palace by guards who believed his ticket was counterfeit. "You can't do this to me," Arthur said. But the guards did.

Now that the Republican convention is over, Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, the Democrat who welcomed the delegates at the beginning of the week, no longer feels so hospitable. Addressing some leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Shelley said that as he watched the convention on television he thought he was "witnessing things I had read from Mein Kampf."

A press aide for Sen. Barry Goldwater says the senator's campaign committee raised more than $1 million in individual contributions since Jan. 1.

Fred Mullen, the aide, said several of the contributions were in excess of $1,000, but for the most part they were small donations from some 300,000 individuals averaging about $3 each.

Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to be back in his Washington office by Monday morning.

He probably will leave San Francisco Saturday for Phoenix and a short rest.

Before accepting the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater spent two hours at the controls of a rented two-engine plane flying over California, including one pass over the Cow Palace.

His press secretary, Ed Nellor, said Thursday's jaunt was the third this week for the senator, who rented the plane at the San Mateo County Airport.

American Auctioneers Take Busman Holiday

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Auctioneers from all over the United States took a busman's holiday Thursday night.

They gathered, some 500 strong, to listen to each other hawk their wares in the rapid-fire, sing - song chant which sounds a little like a 33 rpm playing record on 78 speed.

The buyers and sellers are members of the National Auctioneers Association and their families meeting here July 15-18. Their machine gun patter, punctuated with the "yup" which indicates a new and higher bid, filled the convention hall for 2½ hours. They sold everything from Hawaiian bracelets to tomato sauce to floodlights.

The youngest auctioneer was 7-year-old Johnny Kiko of Canton, Ohio, who had to be hoisted atop a table to reach the microphone. His patter was a little slow, and he said he was scared, but sold a stuffed dog for $6.

Johnny's 10-year-old brother, Rusty, also auctioned some merchandise under the watchful eye of his father, Russell, who is a professional with two other sons in the business.

Among other youthful participants was Lee McCarver, 15, of Sevierville, Tenn., who has been on the auctioneer's platform "ever since I was old enough to holler."

Lee talked up the price on a Tennessee ham until his face turned scarlet, then paused to warn, "I want to remind you folks the only way to get one of these hams is to go to my dad's auction house—where he gives them away—or to buy it here."

Pages At GOP Convention 'Had A Ball,' One Observes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The young Republicans who served as pages at the Republican national convention were the saddest of the "party people" to see it end Thursday night.

"We've had a ball," said Rush Milam, 15, of Waco, Tex.

"You bet," chimed in John Brown, 17, of Dallas.

These two, along with Carolyn Bennett, 25, of San Antonio, were pages for the Texas delegation. How did they get their jobs?

"You make application to the state committee," said Carolyn. The ones who were picked have folks who: Work hard for the party, keep the car handy, or give money. Things like that.

"This one's had a lot of excitement in it," he said.

"I've been called every name in the book," said one young assistant sergeant-at-arms from Tennessee. "I'm supposed to keep people off the floor. They're all brothers or aunts of big shots."

John Sering of Boston is a young attorney who also was charged with seeing that "unauthorized persons" were not admitted onto the floor.

"The things I do for my party," he groaned after the umpteenth time he had his shins kicked by a pushing, shoving crowd of those with tickets, those without tickets and those who didn't know whether they had tickets or not.

Was it worth it?

"Yes, sir," said the pages.

Goodrich, URW Reach Pact Accord

CINCINNATI (AP)—A fourth major rubber company, B. F. Goodrich Co., has reached agreement with the United Rubber Workers Union on a three-year pension, insurance and hospitalization contract.

In announcing the agreement Thursday night, a union spokesman said it follows a pattern of similar contracts signed this week with Firestone, Goodyear and General Tire.

The Goodrich pact, which the spokesman said would be signed today, affects 11,000 production workers in eight cities, beginning Aug. 1. It is subject to ratification by URW locals at the various plants.

Wages are not up for bargaining until next spring.

The union said the contract includes increases in existing life insurance, hospitalization and surgical benefits, extension of some benefits to cover retired employes and their wives, and higher pension payments.

A new feature allows retirement at age 62 with no reduction in pension payments.

B. F. Goodrich plants are in Akron, Ohio; Clarksville, Tenn.; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Los Angeles; Riverside, N. J.; Miami, Okla.; Oaks, Pa., and Marion, Ohio.

Thief Obtains Purse And $5

For the fourth time this month, a thief sneaked into a woman's home and stole her purse while she was asleep, police reported.

Mrs. Wilma Marshall, 326 E. 9th St., reported to police this morning the purse containing $5, including a silver dollar, was taken from the dining room between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 5:30 a.m. today.

Entrance was gained by raising a window at the rear of the home, police were told.

In addition to the cash, the purse also contained the family bank book, loan book and insurance policy, she said.

Three other women, including two in the East End, reported similar burglaries to officers early this month.

Richard Byers, 315 Norton St., told police his car battery was stolen and the right rear door window was broken while the auto was parked between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the rear of Westgate School.

Data On Project Given To Grange At Yellow Creek

Improvements made to the Grange Hall and proposed work were discussed at a meeting of the Yellow Creek Grange Thursday night.

New double doors have been installed at the front entrance by Wayne Hamilton, master.

The charter was draped in memory of the late Glenn B. Roberts, a member.

Mrs. Betty Mick, lecturer, was in charge of the program. It included a quiz on "What City Is This?" Mrs. Grace DeLauder gave a reading entitled "1872 Office Memo." Mrs. Pearl Duck read a short story and Mrs. Mick read a poem, "For We The Grange Have Builded." A game was played.

Hamilton screened movies of Canada, parades at Wellsville and Highlandtown and of the re-enactment of Morgan's Raid at West Point.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ellen Forbes and Miss Elizabeth Smith.

The next meeting is Aug. 6.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, July 17, the 199th day of 1964. There are 167 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, in Potsdam on the outskirts of Berlin, President Harry Truman, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Josef Stalin met to outline joint Allied policy for the remainder of World War II and its aftermath.

On this date:

In 1898, the Spanish army surrendered to United States forces at Santiago, Cuba.

In 1938, Douglas (Wrong-Way) Corrigan of Los Angeles took off from Brooklyn on his unauthorized flight to Ireland.

In 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for a third term at the Democratic National Convention.

Ten years ago — Theodore Heuss was re-elected president of West Germany by the Federal Assembly.

Five years ago—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced he was resigning — a move designed to force the ousting of President Manuel Urrutia Ileo, accused by Castro of taking an attitude bordering on treason.

One year ago — The securities and Exchange Commission asked the abolition of floor traders following a study charging the New York Stock Exchange failed to fully protect investors.

Odd Facts

Both major parties spent more than $175 million during the 1960 election on the national, state and local levels.

Only 208,171 of an estimated civilian voting age of population of 1,163,000 voted in Mississippi in the last presidential election.

Forty per cent of the nation's population will be under 20 years of age next year.

QUESTION: What does PT in PT boat mean?

ANSWER: A torpedo is one of the most deadly of naval weapons. It can be headed for any enemy vessel under its own power while the boat which dropped it streaks away out of range of enemy guns. After the torpedo was invented, fast light ships were developed to drop torpedoes and then make a fast getaway. The PT boat is the modern version of this idea. "PT" means "patrol torpedo", meaning the boat is used on patrol missions as well as for dropping torpedoes. These craft skim or "plane" over the surface at speeds up to 57 miles an hour. It is the shape of the hull as well as their light construction which enables them to "plane" in this way.

The main picture shows a PT boat sliced in half by a Japanese destroyer which came zooming up out of the night. It was August 2, 1943; the officer in the water is Ensign John F. Kennedy, skipper of the PT. As day broke, the man later to be our President ordered his men to swim to a nearby island. He towed a disabled man to shore, despite an injury to his own back. For this heroism, he received the Navy and Marine Corps Medals, as well as the Purple Heart.

Today is Friday, July 17, the 199th day of 1964. There are 167 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1898, the Spanish army surrendered to United States forces at Santiago, Cuba.

In 1938, Douglas (Wrong-Way) Corrigan of Los Angeles took off from Brooklyn on his unauthorized flight to Ireland.

In 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for a third term at the Democratic National Convention.

Ten years ago — Theodore Heuss was re-elected president of West Germany by the Federal Assembly.

Five years ago—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced he was resigning — a move designed to force the ousting of President Manuel Urrutia Ileo, accused by Castro of taking an attitude bordering on treason.

One year ago — The securities and Exchange Commission asked the abolition of floor traders following a study charging the New York Stock Exchange failed to fully protect investors.

VP Candidate's Wife Says It's Like Being In 'Shock'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Amid the tumult of the nomination of her husband as Republican vice presidential candidate, Mrs. Stephanie Miller was asked how she felt at the big moment.

"What does it feel like to be in shock?" the candidate's pretty wife replied.

She and her two oldest daughters, Elizabeth Ann, 20, and Mary Karen, 17, watched with pride Thursday night as William Miller, 50-year-old New York congressman and GOP national chairman, was nominated.

"It's the most exciting thing that ever happened," Mrs. Miller said when her husband's name first was being mentioned seriously at the convention, but she said she was "trying to keep my nerves settled and my feet on the ground."

At 41, Mrs. Miller, is the mother of four children. The two others, who stayed back at their summer home near Olcott, N.Y., are William Jr., 5, and Stephanie, who will be 3 in September.

The Millers were married in 1943 in their hometown of Lockport, N.Y., shortly after she was graduated from Lockport High School. Mrs. Miller, then 19, said she'd met young lawyer Bill when he handled a civil case for her mother, Mrs. Mary Wagner, who now resides in Buffalo, N.Y.
